Allies Set Naval Show For Stalin

To Last 13 Days

Atlantic Treaty Navies Ready for Defense Up to Arctic Circle

Oslo, Norway, Sept. 5 (AP)—More than 160 allied warships including eight big aircraft carriers begin maneuvers off Scandinavia next week, warning Russia that the west is ready to defend the seas even up to the Arctic Circle.

Officially known as "Operation Mainbrace," the 13-day war games will be one of the largest displays of allied naval might since World War 2.

Chance to Work Together

The ostensible purpose of the vast, eight-nation exercise is to give the participating navies an opportunity to cooperate in maneuvers with their North Atlantic Treaty partners.

Military sources said, however, that the games could have two highly important psychological effects:

1. Demonstrate to Norway, Denmark and little Iceland that they can and will be defended, that they are an integral part of NATO and not just an appendage to an organization centered in Europe's vital mid-section.

2. Serve notice on Soviet Russia that the western allies are fully prepared to resist attack anywhere, even in Arctic waters.

To Assemble off Scotland

Allied headquarters for northern Europe, located here in Oslo, announced today that the NATO task force will assemble off Scotland Monday and Tuesday.

The actual maneuvers will begin Saturday, Sept. 13, under the command of Britain's Adm. Sir Patrick Brind, commander in chief of allied forces in northern Europe. They will end Sept. 25.

Participating will be ships and planes from the United States, Britain, Canada, Norway, Denmark, France, The Netherlands and Belgium. The fleet will range from battleships like the 45,000-ton USS Wisconsin and Britain's 42,500-ton Vanguard down to small but vital minesweepers.

Carriers for Air Punch

Eight large carriers from the United States, Britain and Canada will provide the task force's aerial punch. They include two American 45,000-tonners, the Midway and the Franklin D. Roosevelt, and two small U. S. flattops, the 27,100-ton Wasp and the 14,500-ton Wright. Britain is sending three carriers as well as many other types of ships.

The task force will rendezvous at the Firths of Clyde and Forth in Scotland. Its maneuvers will carry the fleet into waters off northern Norway, near the port of Narvik, and from there down the coast of Denmark.

The Soviet press has, in recent weeks, laid down a heavy campaign against "Mainbrace," describing it as a deliberate provocation.

Ike Leads Press Help In Survey

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower has more support among the nation's press than any GOP presidential candidate in recent history, the trade publication Editor and Publisher says.

On the basis of questionnaires returned by 918 daily newspapers in an Editor and Publisher poll, newspaper support shaped up like this:

Eisenhower, 75.16 per cent.

Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson, 15.47 per cent.

Independent or undeclared, 9.37 per cent.

Polled by Editor and Publisher were 1,773 daily newspapers. The 918 which responded represented 51.78 per cent of those polled.

81.25 in Circulation

Newspapers supporting Eisenhower's candidacy, Editor and Publisher said yesterday in announcing the results of its first poll of the campaign, represent 81.25 per cent of the total daily circulation among newspapers replying.

Those supporting Stevenson's candidacy represented 9.54 per cent of the total daily circulation among the 918 dailies.

The independent or undeclared newspapers represented 9.21 per cent of the circulation on the same basis.

Editor and Publisher said the unprecedented support of Eisenhower largely was the result of a switch by many southern newspapers which traditionally had supported Democratic candidates.

To Make Surveys

Editor and Publisher said it would continue to make later surveys during the campaign.

The publication's final poll in 1948 showed:

GOP candidate Thomas E. Dewey was supported by 65.17 per cent of the dailies with 78.55 per cent of the daily circulation.

President Truman was supported by 15.38 per cent of the dailies with 1.03 per cent of the circulation.

Editor and Publisher said Eisenhower's major numerical and circulation support comes from states with the big metropolitan cities, while Stevenson's support is scattered.

Crowd Rips City Apart For General

'Thunderous Ovations' Are Accorded Nominee at Philadelphia; Goes to Chicago

Mess Is Issue

Offers 10-Point Plan of His Own for U. S. Betterment

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower was off to a roaring "crusade" for world peace today which he said could be achieved only by throwing the "wasters, the bunglers and the incompetents" out of office in Washington.

To a wildly cheering throng of 17,500 jam-packed into Convention Hall here last night, the GOP presidential nominee said:

"Let's sweep this country with such a wave of resolve, determination and action that the little men, the defeatists, the false prophets of the false doctrine that it can't be done, will be tossed out of power and the real American given a chance to move in."

On that theme—and offering a 10-point peace program of his own—Eisenhower formally launched his presidential campaign. And today he carried his fight westward to Chicago and a five-day tour of the middlewest touching Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio, and Indiana.

Leave for Chicago

The general and his party had an early breakfast at their midtown hotel and left Philadelphia by plane at 7:55 a. m. (EST).

In Chicago, he was to meet at noon with Republican leaders and candidates for state offices in Illinois, Michigan and Indiana. Tonight he was to talk with ward and precinct workers in Cook county (Chicago).

The Philadelphia speech—beamed across the nation by television and radio—climaxed a day of thunderous ovations for Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie.

It began when a crowd estimated by Deputy Police Commissioner Herbert Kitchenman at 250,000 thronged the downtown streets of Philadelphia to cheer the GOP candidate on his arrival from New York.

It reached a peak when Eisenhower stepped onto the floodlighted stage at Convention Hall while waves of applause rolled down from an audience packed to the rafters.

Voice Drowned Out

Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania had started out with an introduction but his voice was drowned out by roars as Eisenhower stepped from the wings of the stage with a big smile on his face.

Education Board Rejects No. 8 Bid

Psychology Group Told of Best Years

Bigshots in Various Ways Usually Have Own Age Brackets

By FRANK CAREY
(AP Science Reporter)

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Your best chances of having an annual income of a million dollars or more will come when you are between 80 and 89 years old, an Ohio University psychologist reported today.

Dr. H. C. Lehman presented statistics to the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association showing that in general, people who become bigshots in politics, diplomacy, collegiate administration, military life, industry, commerce and the high courts of the land usually are at least 50 years old.

But—

He also reported that a man's best years for producing creative work—like writing books, painting pictures, or doing big things in science—are usually in the thirties or early forties.

As for Politics

In the field of leadership in politics and other endeavors—as distinguished from men who are outstanding in creative fields—the psychologist gave these figures:

The most likely age to become president of the United States is anywhere from 50 to 54; ambassador, senator, or boss of the army from 60 to 64; Supreme Court justice or speaker of the House of Representatives, 70 to 74; a college president, 50 to 54.

About those million dollar plus incomes:

Dr. Lehman failed to state the attributes of the folks who received them; all he said was that oldsters between 80 and 89—without necessarily working—are the folks who most usually receive them.

He had a separate category for receivers of earned annual incomes of $50,000 or more: persons 60 to 64.

There Are Exceptions

There are exceptions, of course in the earned income classification. Movies actors are the best money makers between the ages of 30 to 34, and movie actresses between 23 and 27.

On the age differences between the "creativity" and "leadership" fields, Dr. Lehman offered this view:

"It appears that the conditions essential for creativity and originality, which can be displayed in private achievement, come earlier than those social skills which contribute to leadership and eminence and which inevitably must wait, not upon the insight of the leader himself, but upon the insight of society about him."

June Failures Are Discussed, Said to Have Broad Foundation

Rejection of the $27,000 bid for the purchase of No. 8 school, higher registration in the city schools, elimination of vending machines in the elementary schools and a lengthy discussion led by Trustee Bertha Connelly on the high percentage of failures at the June examination, were several of the matters which were brought up at the first meeting of the board of education after the summer recess of schools.

Just prior to adjournment the fact that there had been a considerable increase in the number of failures in the June examination was brought up following presentment of a report by Superintendent Laidlaw.

Broad Foundation

The board discussed the matter at length and endeavored to learn where the difficulty lies. It was agreed that the problem was one which has a broad foundation and has come about over a period of time. Advancement of pupils in grade schools who were not ready to carry the advanced work, was suggested as being at the foundation of the problem and it was suggested that remedial work starting in the lower level might be the answer. The problem is serious enough to warrant the attention of the board, it was stated, and it is expected that assistance from the state department may be sought in order to work out a plan to eliminate this threat.

School Bid Rejected

On motion of Trustee Baltz the bid of $27,000 for purchase of No. 8 school, which was offered at auction recently, was rejected by the board as being far too low and it was suggested that since there had been inquiries from interested parties who had indicated a willingness to pay considerably more for the property, that it might again be offered for sale. The building has not been used for school purposes since opening of the Washington School and the board offered it for sale at public auction, hoping that it could be sold at a fair price and the cost of maintenance be eliminated. It was stated that the building would not be used again for school purposes except as an emergency measure to relieve congestion which might develop at some future time.

A communication was read from N. Jansen Fowler, a former member of the board, saying that he felt it would be a mistake to sell the property until it was definitely established that the building would not be required in the Seoul, Korea, Sept. 5 (AP)—Some 20 swift UN Sabre jets today shot down three Communist MIGs, probably destroyed one and damaged three, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said.

That raised the two-day toll to 16 MIGs destroyed, one probably, and six damaged.

Allied losses, if any, will be reported in a weekend summary.

The U. S. fliers today engaged the Russian-built MIGs in seven dog-fights over North Korea.

Other UN warplanes plastered a North Korean mining center and supply dumps.

UN infantrymen and artillery hurled back eight Chinese columns which staged desperate new assaults on blood-soaked Bunker Hill in a flareup on the long-dormant western front.

U. S. Eighth Army staff officers estimated 400 Reds were killed or wounded in two hours of bitter pre-dawn fighting. The Reds stormed through intense defensive fire to within hand grenade range before their columns were smashed.

Fowler Is Chosen To Head Defense Post in Capital

Attorney Will Assume Mobilization Duties Once Held by Wilson

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Truman today named Henry H. Fowler, Washington and Virginia attorney, as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Fowler, now defense production administrator, thus moves up to the top job in the government's civilian agencies connected with the preparedness effort.

His new job was formerly held by Charles S. Wilson, one-time president of the General Electric Company. Wilson resigned last March 31 after a dispute with the administration over methods of handling the steel strike.

Steelman Was Acting

John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, has been acting as the defense mobilizer since Wilson quit.

Fowler will take over the post on Monday.

In announcing the appointment, President Truman said Fowler would continue for the time being in the defense production job until it is determined to what extent that agency can be welded together with the Office of Defense Mobilization.

To Stay to Dec. 31

Fowler originally had advised the President that he wished to leave government service but advised Truman that he would undertake the defense mobilizer post and stay on with the government until December 31 this year.

Los Angelenos Unsure Of Pronunciations

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP)—The city is 171 years old but it still is not sure how to pronounce its name.

A jury of experts and civic leaders appointed by the mayor threw up its hands in despair yesterday as the city celebrated its 171st birthday. The jury foreman said the panel is deadlocked over whether the "g" should be hard or soft.

They are split, he reported, between "Loss An-jell-ess" and and "Loss An-guh-less."

In his birthday message, Malor Bowron dealt mostly on the problem of pronunciation. How would he pronounce it?

He wouldn't say. His talk referred to the city of the Angels as "our city."

Shivers Aide Says Daniels 'Wrong'

Austin, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—An aide to Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said today that Jonathan Daniels, prominent North Carolina Democrat, was "absolutely, slapdab wrong."

The aide, who asked not to be identified, was referring to Daniels' statement last night that Shivers had violated a pledge given the credentials committee of the Democratic national convention in refusing to support Gov. Adlai Stevenson for president. Shivers was not immediately available for comment.

Meanwhile, the campaign for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket

Ike's Program

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Here is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 10-point program for peace:

1. An administration in Washington "which we ourselves can trust."

2. An administration "that puts its trust in the people."

3. A foreign policy with "clear and positive goals."

4. Allies in Europe, South America, the Middle East, Asia and Africa who "must be bound to us" in friendship.

5. The aid "by peaceful means" of the right of everyone "to live in freedom."

6. "Unwavering support" of the United Nations.

7. An America economically strong and growing daily in productive strength.

8. An America strong militarily but striving for permanent peace "with general disarmament."

9. "Imaginative and practical use of every other means for preventing war," including "power of truth" and "able diplomacy."

10. "Root out of government those who would betray our system or abuse our confidence."

Ridgway Says Reds Have Million Troops With Sufficient Stocks for Big Offensive

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 5 (AP)—U. S. Eighth Army Commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet today said there now are more than a million Communist soldiers in Korea—"a slight increase" in the past few months.

He told a news conference the Reds have "rather ample stocks" for an offensive. But reiterated that he does not believe they will try one in the coming autumn.

The husky four-star general said United Nations air attacks are "hurting the Communists badly, but the enemy has rather ample stocks of an offensive.

"It's rather incredible, but he is a master mind at infiltration and night movement of supplies."

Van Fleet said he "hadn't heard anything about" reports in Tokyo that he would be reassigned within a month in keeping with army policy of rotating generals as well as enlisted men.

"That wave of rumors keeps rolling across the country," he said. "That denial doesn't catch up."

Army commanders, however, rarely confirm reassignments ahead of official Washington announcements and often regard denials as justified diplomacy.

Van Fleet has been Eighth Army commander 17 months, without a day's leave from Korea.

He made these other points at the news conference in what he called "a public accounting to the free world" on UN ground action in Korea in June, July and August:

1. "Our frontline positions have been handily improved the past three months, providing us a strong coast-to-coast installation."

2. UN troops have inflicted more than 30,000 casualties on the Communists in the past three months.

3. More than 105,000 American troops have rotated home in the past five months.

4. Body armor has proved practical and an adequate supply "has been assured in the very near future" for all units wanting the extra protection.

5. Plans for converting to winter clothing have been completed. "The supply picture remains excellent."

6. "The brilliant progress of the Army of the Republic of Korea," is responsible for much of the UN success on the battlefront.

Asked about the deadlocked truce talks, Van Fleet answered "no comment."

He characterized as "more of their lies" Communist claims that the UN should realize it is not hurting the Communists and should settle for a truce on Red terms.

"The whole world now recognizes Communist lies, including their own people," Van Fleet said.

Stevenson to Hit GOP Battle Cry

Denver Address Is Pegged to 'Time for Change' by Opposition

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, primed for a fight, was to fly to Denver today to open a campaign tour of the west that his managers hope will out-match Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's thunderous sweep through the south.

He expects to hit nine states in nine days, traveling mostly by air. In at least one speech, and possibly others, the Democratic presidential candidate intends to carry the fight to the Republicans, answering arguments, and attempting to mow down some of their major contentions. The Denver address tonight (8 p. m., EST) will be aimed at the GOP battle cry, "It's time for a change."

Heretofore, Stevenson has been largely occupied with setting forth his own ideas, laying the broad foundation of his campaign. He has not answered in detail Republican accusations about corruption in government, nor taken public notice of any direct attacks on himself.

Mostly His Own

In passing, the governor has flipped a few political darts at the opposition. Mostly, however, he had concentrated on elucidating the principles of his own program.

The Denver speech departs from this pattern.

Stevenson's campaign manager,

World Bank Loans Helped 16 Nations, 7th Report Says

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The World Bank today reported that increased lending during the past year put its money to work raising living standards in 16 countries—including four within the shadow of the Iron Curtain.

The bank also indicated in its seventh annual report that the 54-nation development bank is reaching out for private capital to increase its lending power and that the response has been good. The report covered the fiscal year 1952—July 1, 1951 to June 30, 1952.

During the year, the bank reported, it approved 19 loans, amounting to $298,600,000, in 16 countries scattered over the globe.

That was about one million dollars more than loans approved the year before. But loan disbursements — actual release of the money approved for loans—went up steeply from $77,600,000 in fiscal 1951 to $184,800,000 in fiscal 1952.

The loans to countries nozzling close along the Iron Curtain were to Finland, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Pakistan.

The bank, officially called the International Bank for reconstruction and development, was set up after the war with funds subscribed by its member governments. Its loans are all guaranteed by the borrower's government.

The bank now has 54 members, all from the free world except Czechoslovakia, and subscribed capital of $9,036,500,000. The bank leds for programs or projects aimed at increasing the productivity of its member countries. Its hope is that its activities will encourage private capital to follow where it has opened the way.

The report was published during the gathering at Mexico City of the bank's governors—one from each member nation—for their annual meeting. The bank's governors are in most cases the same as those of the International Monetary Fund, also holding its annual governor's meeting at Mexico City.

In its annual report issued yesterday the fund lectured member nations on their domestic finances, saying many countries were trying to live beyond their means, thereby creating inflationary pressures that were upsetting international finance.

Allies Set Naval Show For Stalin

To Last 13 Days

Atlantic Treaty Navies Ready for Defense Up to Arctic Circle

Oslo, Norway, Sept. 5 (AP) — More than 160 allied warships including eight big aircraft carriers begin maneuvers off Scandinavia next week, warning Russia that the west is ready to defend the seas even up to the Arctic Circle.

Officially known as "Operation Mainbrace," the 13-day war games will be one of the largest displays of allied naval might since World War 2.

Chance to Work Together

The ostensible purpose of the vast, eight-nation exercise is to give the participating navies an opportunity to cooperate in maneuvers with their North Atlantic Treaty partners.

Military sources said, however, that the games could have two highly important psychological effects:

1. Demonstrate to Norway, Denmark and little Iceland that they can and will be defended, that they are an integral part of NATO and not just an appendage to an organization centered in Europe's vital mid-section.

2. Serve notice on Soviet Russia that the western allies are fully prepared to resist attack anywhere, even in Arctic waters.

To Assemble off Scotland

Allied headquarters for northern Europe, located here in Oslo, announced today that the NATO task force will assemble off Scotland Monday and Tuesday.

The actual maneuvers will begin Saturday, Sept. 13, under the command of Britain's Adm. Sir Patrick Brind, commander in chief of allied forces in northern Europe. They will end Sept. 25.

Participating will be ships and planes from the United States, Britain, Canada, Norway, Denmark, France, The Netherlands and Belgium. The fleet will range from battleships like the 45,000-ton USS Wisconsin and Britain's 42,500-ton Vanguard down to small but vital minesweepers.

Carriers for Air Punch

Eight large carriers from the United States, Britain and Canada will provide the task force's aerial punch. They include two American 45,000-tonners, the Midway and the Franklin D. Roosevelt, and two small U. S. flattops, the 27,100-ton Wasp and the 14,500-ton Wright. Britain is sending three carriers as well as many other types of ships.

The task force will rendezvous at the Firths of Clyde and Forth in Scotland. Its maneuvers will carry the fleet into waters off northern Norway, near the port of Narvik, and from there down the coast of Denmark.

The Soviet press has, in recent weeks, laid down a heavy campaign against "Mainbrace," describing it as a deliberate provocation.

Ike Leads Press Help In Survey

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Republican nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower has more support among the nation's press than any GOP presidential candidate in recent history, the trade publication Editor and Publisher says.

On the basis of questionnaires returned by 918 daily newspapers in an Editor and Publisher poll, newspaper support shaped up like this:

Eisenhower, 75.16 per cent.

Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson, 15.47 per cent.

Independent or undeclared, 9.37 per cent.

Polled by Editor and Publisher were 1,773 daily newspapers. The 918 which responded represented 51.78 per cent of those polled.

81.25 in Circulation

Newspapers supporting Eisenhower's candidacy, Editor and Publisher said yesterday in announcing the results of its first poll of the campaign, represent 81.25 per cent of the total daily circulation among newspapers replying.

Those supporting Stevenson's candidacy represented 9.54 per cent of the total daily circulation among the 918 dailies.

The independent or undeclared newspapers represented 9.21 per cent of the circulation on the same basis.

Editor and Publisher said the unprecedented support of Eisenhower largely was the result of a switch by many southern newspapers which traditionally had supported Democratic candidates.

To Make Surveys

Editor and Publisher said it would continue to make later surveys during the campaign.

The publication's final poll in 1948 showed:

GOP candidate Thomas E. Dewey was supported by 65.17 per cent of the dailies with 78.55 per cent of the daily circulation.

President Truman was supported by 15.38 per cent of the dailies with 1.03 per cent of the circulation.

Editor and Publisher said Eisenhower's major numerical and circulation support comes from states with the big metropolitan cities, while Stevenson's support is scattered.

Stevenson to Hit GOP Battle Cry

Denver Address Is Pegged to 'Time for Change' by Opposition

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 5 (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson, primed for a fight, was to fly to Denver today to open a campaign tour of the west that his managers hope will out-match Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's thunderous sweep through the south.

He expects to hit nine states in nine days, traveling mostly by air. In at least one speech, and possibly others, the Democratic presidential candidate intends to carry the fight to the Republicans, answering arguments, and attempting to mow down some of their major contentions. The Denver address tonight (8 p. m., EST) will be aimed at the GOP battle cry, "It's time for a change."

Heretofore, Stevenson has been largely occupied with setting forth his own ideas, laying the broad foundation of his campaign. He has not answered in detail Republican accusations about corruption in government, nor taken public notice of any direct attacks on himself.

Mostly His Own

In passing, the governor has flipped a few political darts at the opposition. Mostly, however, he had concentrated on elucidating the principles of his own program.

The Denver speech departs from this pattern.

Stevenson's campaign manager,

Fowler Is Chosen To Head Defense Post in Capital

Attorney Will Assume Mobilization Duties Once Held by Wilson

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Truman today named Henry H. Fowler, Washington and Virginia attorney, as director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Fowler, now defense production administrator, thus moves up to the top job in the government's civilian agencies connected with the preparedness effort.

His new job was formerly held by Charles S. Wilson, one-time president of the General Electric Company. Wilson resigned last March 31 after a dispute with the administration over metnods of handling the steel strike.

Steelman Was Acting

John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, has been acting as the defense mobilizer since Wilson quit.

Fowler will take over the post on Monday.

In announcing the appointment, President Truman said Fowler would continue for the time being in the defense production job until it is determined to what extent that agency can be welded together with the Office of Defense Mobilization.

To Stay to Dec. 31

Fowler originally had advised the President that he wished to leave government service but advised Truman that he would undertake the defense mobilizer post and stay on with the government until December 31 this year.

Los Angelenos Unsure Of Pronunciations

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP)—The city is 171 years old but it still is not sure how to pronounce its name.

A jury of experts and civic leaders appointed by the mayor threw up its hands in despair yesterday as the city celebrated its 171st birthday. The jury foreman said the panel is deadlocked over whether the "g" should be hard or soft.

They are split, he reported, between "Loss An-jell-ess" and and "Loss An-guh-less."

In his birthday message, Malor Bowron dealt mostly on the problem of pronunciation. How would he pronounce it?

Shivers Aide Says Daniels 'Wrong'

Austin, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—An aide to Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas said today that Jonathan Daniels, prominent North Carolina Democrat, was "absolutely, slapdab wrong."

The aide, who asked not to be identified, was referring to Daniels' statement last night that Shivers had violated a pledge given the credentials committee of the Democratic national convention in refusing to support Gov. Adlai Stevenson for president. Shivers was not immediately available for comment.

Crowd Rips City Apart For General

'Thunderous Ovations' Are Accorded Nominee at Philadelphia; Goes to Chicago

Mess Is Issue

Offers 10-Point Plan of His Own for U. S. Betterment

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower was off to a roaring "crusade" for world peace today which he said could be achieved only by throwing the "wasters, the bunglers and the incompetents" out of office in Washington.

To a wildly cheering throng of 17,500 jam-packed into Convention Hall here last night, the GOP presidential nominee said:

"Let's sweep this country with such a wave of resolve, determination and action that the little men, the defeatists, the false prophets of the false doctrine that it can't be done, will be tossed out of power and the real American given a chance to move in."

On that theme—and offering a 10-point peace program of his own—Eisenhower formally launched his presidential campaign. And today he carried his fight westward to Chicago and a five-day tour of the middlewest touching Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio, and Indiana.

Leave for Chicago

The general and his party had an early breakfast at their midtown hotel and left Philadelphia by plane at 7:55 a. m. (EST).

In Chicago, he was to meet at noon with Republican leaders and candidates for state offices in Illinois, Michigan and Indiana. Tonight he was to talk with ward and precinct workers in Cook county (Chicago).

The Philadelphia speech—beamed across the nation by television and radio—climaxed a day of thunderous ovations for Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie.

It began when a crowd estimated by Deputy Police Commissioner Herbert Kitchenman at 250,000 thronged the downtown streets of Philadelphia to cheer the GOP candidate on his arrival from New York.

It reached a peak when Eisenhower stepped onto the floodlighted stage at Convention Hall while waves of applause rolled down from an audience packed to the rafters.

Voice Drowned Out

Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania had started out with an introduction but his voice was drowned out by roars as Eisenhower stepped from the wings of the stage with a big smile on his face.

Ike's Program

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP) — Here is Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's 10-point program for peace:

1. An administration in Washington "which we ourselves can trust."

2. An administration "that puts its trust in the people."

3. A foreign policy with "clear and positive goals."

4. Allies in Europe, South America, the Middle East, Asia and Africa who "must be bound to us" in friendship.

5. The aid "by peaceful means" of the right of everyone "to live in freedom."

6. "Unwavering support" of the United Nations.

7. An America economically strong and growing daily in productive strength.

8. An America strong militarily but striving for permanent peace "with general disarmament."

9. "Imaginative and practical use of every other means for preventing war," including "power of truth" and "able diplomacy."

10. "Root out of government those who would betray our system or abuse our confidence."

Ridgway Says Reds Have Million Troops With Sufficient Stocks for Big Offensive

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 5 (AP)—U. S. Eighth Army Commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet today said there now are more than a million Communist soldiers in Korea—"a slight increase" in the past few months.

He told a news conference the Reds have "rather ample stocks" for an offensive. But reiterated that he does not believe they will try one in the coming autumn.

The husky four-star general said United Nations air attacks are "hurting the Communists badly, but the enemy has rather ample stocks of an offensive.

"It's rather incredible, but he is a master mind at infiltration and night movement of supplies."

Van Fleet said he "hadn't heard anything about" reports in Tokyo that he would be reassigned within a month in keeping with army policy of rotating generals as well as enlisted men.

"That wave of rumors keeps rolling across the country," he said. "That denial doesn't catch up."

Army commanders, however, rarely confirm reassignments ahead of official Washington announcements and often regard denials as justified diplomacy.

Van Fleet has been Eighth Army commander 17 months, without a day's leave from Korea.

He made these other points at the news conference in what he called "a public accounting to the free world" on UN ground action in Korea in June, July and August:

1. "Our frontline positions have been handily improved the past three months, providing us a strong coast-to-coast installation."

2. UN troops have inflicted more than 30,000 casualties on the Communists in the past three months.

3. More than 105,000 American troops have rotated home in the past five months.

4. Body armor has proved practical and an adequate supply "has been assured in the very near future" for all units wanting the extra protection.

5. Plans for converting to winter clothing have been completed. "The supply picture remains excellent."

6. "The brilliant progress of the Army of the Republic of Korea," is responsible for much of the UN success on the battlefront.

Asked about the deadlocked truce talks, Van Fleet answered "no comment."

He characterized as "more of their lies" Communist claims that the UN should realize it is not hurting the Communists and should settle for a truce on Red terms.

"The whole world now recognizes Communist lies, including their own people," Van Fleet said.

World Bank Loans Helped 16 Nations, 7th Report Says

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The World Bank today reported that increased lending during the past year put its money to work raising living standards in 16 countries—including four within the shadow of the Iron Curtain.

The bank also indicated in its seventh annual report that the 54-nation development bank is reaching out for private capital to increase its lending power and that the response has been good. The report covered the fiscal year 1952—July 1, 1951 to June 30, 1952.

During the year, the bank reported, it approved 19 loans, amounting to $298,600,000, in 16 countries scattered over the globe.

That was about one million dollars more than loans approved the year before. But loan disbursements — actual release of the money approved for loans—went up steeply from $77,600,000 in fiscal 1951 to $184,800,000 in fiscal 1952.

The loans to countries nozzling close along the Iron Curtain were to Finland, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Pakistan.

The bank, officially called the International Bank for reconstruction and development, was set up after the war with funds subscribed by its member governments. Its loans are all guaranteed by the borrower's government.

The bank now has 54 members, all from the free world except Czechoslovakia, and subscribed capital of $9,036,500,000. The bank leds for programs or projects aimed at increasing the productivity of its member countries. Its hope is that its activities will encourage private capital to follow where it has opened the way.

The report was published during the gathering at Mexico City of the bank's governors—one from each member nation—for their annual meeting. The bank's governors are in most cases the same as those of the International Monetary Fund, also holding its annual governor's meeting at Mexico City.

In its annual report issued yesterday the fund lectured member nations on their domestic finances, saying many countries were trying to live beyond their means, thereby creating inflationary pressures that were upsetting international finance.

Worker Is Suspended

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—A Civil Service Commission employe who testified before a grand jury investigating a leak of confidential review board hearings has been suspended. The commission asked the U. S. District Court here for a copy of her testimony for further study in the case. In a statement yesterday, the commission named the suspended employe as Miss Miriam M. Dehaas, and said its representatives first questioned her Jan. 16, just 11 days after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) made public purported minutes of a Loyalty Review Board hearing. "They've hanged the wrong person," McCarthy commented when told in Milwaukee of Miss Dehaas' suspension. He denied she gave him any information, but said he "would have been glad to use her help if I had known she was inclined against the Communists."

Crime Programs Hit

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The journal of the American Medical Association took a swipe today at some of television's crime-and-horror programs, saying they could endanger the health of the nation's children. The journal said that "for its own interest" the television industry should acknowledge the "adverse medical and psychological implications" found in many such programs.

It was also stated that an additional 25 could be expected as late registrants in the high school and approximately 50 to 100 more in the grade schools.

Fluoridation Is Still Under Study

The Board of Water Commissioners last night decided to "continue to investigate fully" the proposal to fluoridate the local water supply.

The board considered the letter of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, dated Aug. 15 in which he suggested definite action toward fluoridation, which several sources say is an asset to dental health.

An announcement by the board after its regular monthly meeting last night said: "The policy of the board continues to follow that of the American Water Works Association" which says in effect that in communities where a strong public demand is developed and where the procedure has the full approval of medical and dental societies, state and local health authorities and others responsible for community health, "water departments or companies may properly participate in a program of fluoridation of public water supplies.

Mayor Newkirk said in his letter that he had attended meetings at which health authorities and groups were in favor of fluoridation and considered it a benefit to community health.

Rayburn spoke over a 19-station radio hook-up from Dallas last night while McCraw spoke to a rally of several hundred persons in Corsicana.

Would Make No Pledge

"Shivers' only pledge at the national convention," the aide said, "was to the effect that he would see to it that the Democratic nominees were on the Texas general election ballot.

"The governor would make no pledge at the convention until the part saying he would 'vote for and support' the national nominees was taken out."

Daniels said that at a session of the Credentials Committee he had asked Shivers if he would be bound by the decision of the convention. He said Shivers replied that he would.

Gave His Word

"Gov. Shivers gave me his word in public sessions," Daniels said, "that if seated he would personally regard himself in honor bound to stand by the majority decision of the convention. I regret to say that I regard the governor's present course, as reported in the press as a violation of the personal pledge which he gave the Credentials Committee at Chicago."

"Mr. Daniels is a mighty fine gentleman," the aide said. "Maybe he's just been reading the wrong newspapers in North Carolina."

Both Rayburn and McCraw dwelt at length on tidelands ownership issue. Gov. Shivers based his decision not to support Stevenson on the Illinois governor's stand for federal ownership of the supposedly oil-rich offshore lands.

Two Are Given Suspended Terms

Two of four young men arrested for the alleged theft of a coin collection, pleaded guilty and were given suspended sentences in city court following appearances yesterday and today.

An investigation by Detectives Clarence Brophy of the theft reported about two weeks ago by Walter Glennon of Abeel street, led to the arrests. The actual value of the money taken was estimated at $90.

The two who pleaded guilty and made restitution were Richard Bell, 17, of 61 Broadway, and Victor J. Komasa, Jr., of 47 Murray street.

Lorin Clearwater, 18, of Brook street, pleaded not guilty and bail was fixed at $100 pending city court appearance Sept. 11. He was represented by Attorney Charles Saccoman.

Matteawan Head Says Wrong Man Given His Release

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — The head of the Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal insane says the institution made a mistake when it turned loose a youth who killed four persons four days after his release.

Dr. John F. McNiell, the hospital superintendent, testified here yesterday in a state Court of Claims case in which Mrs. Yula Pansy St. George is asking $101,112 from the state for the death of her husband, Frank.

St. George was one of four persons stabbed to death on March 15, 1950, when Willie Jones, a Brooklyn Negro now 21, ran amok and slashed seven persons on a Brooklyn street. Mrs. St. George contends Jones should not have been released.

Jones was re-admitted to the Matteawan Hospital at Beacon, N. Y., soon after the stabbings. And, McNiell testified, the hospital staff "decided we were not correct" in freeing Jones.

He described Jones as being a psychopathic personality—"an incurable condition"—but was "no longer psychotic" when released. The hospital superintendent said patients often were discharged before they were completely cured.

"We were definitely sure we were correct," he added.

Jones first entered the hospital after he had been sentenced to the Elmira Reformatory. From the reformatory he went to Coxsackie Prison for treatment of tuberculosis and thence to the hospital.

The case continues today.

Placed on Probation For Liquor Violation

New York, Sept. 5 (Special)—Harry Perl, 45, of Greenfield road, Ellenville, drew a six-months suspended sentence and two years probation Thursday in U. S. District Court from Judge Edward Weinfeld for carrying untaxed alcohol. He entered a guilty plea.

Perl was arrested June 20 by state troopers on Route 52 near Ellenville driving a truck bearing passenger car plates. Investigating, police found five one-gallon jugs of alcohol in his car for which no tax had been paid.

Later, at Perl's home, they found a still where the Ellenville man allegedly manufactured the "tax free" liquor.

Perl, who is married and the father of four, was indicted earlier this year.

Dehaas, and said its representatives first questioned her Jan. 16, just 11 days after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) made public purported minutes of a Loyalty Review Board hearing. "They've hanged the wrong person," McCarthy commented when told in Milwaukee of Miss Dehaas' suspension. It was also stated that an additional 25 could be expected as late registrants in the high school and approximately 50 to 100 more in the grade schools.

Arrangements have been made in the various schools through reassignment of teachers to take care of the grades where registration increased heavily.

The registration by schools is:

Fluoridation Is Still Under Study

The Board of Water Commissioners last night decided to "continue to investigate fully" the proposal to fluoridate the local water supply.

The board considered the letter of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, dated Aug. 15 in which he suggested definite action toward fluoridation, which several sources say is an asset to dental health.

An announcement by the board after its regular monthly meeting last night said: "The policy of the board continues to follow that of the American Water Works Association" which says in effect that in communities where a strong public demand is developed and where the procedure has the full approval of medical and dental societies, state and local health authorities and others responsible for community health, "water departments or companies may properly participate in a program of fluoridation of public water supplies."

Mayor Newkirk said in his letter that he had attended meetings at which health authorities and groups were in favor of fluoridation and considered it a benefit to community health.

Shivers Aide Says

was under way in Texas with Speaker Sam Rayburn and former State Atty. Gen. William McCraw leading the way.

Rayburn spoke over a 19-station radio hook-up from Dallas last night while McCraw spoke to a rally of several hundred persons in Corsicana.

Would Make No Pledge

"Shivers' only pledge at the national convention," the aide said, "was to the effect that he would see to it that the Democratic nominees were on the Texas general election ballot.

"The governor would make no pledge at the convention until the part saying he would 'vote for and support' the national nominees was taken out."

Daniels said that at a session of the Credentials Committee he had asked Shivers if he would be bound by the decision of the convention. He said Shivers replied that he would.

Gave His Word

"Gov. Shivers gave me his word in public sessions," Daniels said, "that if seated he would personally regard himself in honor bound to stand by the majority decision of the convention. I regret to say that I regard the governor's present course, as reported in the press as a violation of the personal pledge which he gave the Credentials Committee at Chicago."

"Mr. Daniels is a mighty fine gentleman," the aide said. "Maybe he's just been reading the wrong newspapers in North Carolina."

Both Rayburn and McCraw dwelt at length on tidelands ownership issue. Gov. Shivers based his decision not to support Stevenson on the Illinois governor's stand for federal ownership of the supposedly oil-rich offshore lands.

Kerhonkson Vet Is Soldier of Month

Pfc. Vance D. Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rich, Academy street, Kerhonkson, is one of four First Army soldiers who has been designated as an outstanding soldier for September, Headquarters of the First Army announced today.

Pfc. Rich and the other three GIs have been awarded a three-day visit to New York. The pass began Thursday and continues through Saturday.

The Kerhonkson soldier is assigned as a non-commissioned officer at the Service School of Headquarters Battery, 52nd AAA Brigade, Fort Wadsworth, S. I., and has served in the army for 17 months.

The other three soldiers included Sergeant First Class Hubert J. Harris, Hingham, Mass., Cpl. Peter J. Mooney, a Korean veteran, who resides at Jeannette Court, Long Lane, Upper Darby, Pa., and Sgt. Norman K. Briggs, another Korean veteran, of 78 Baldwin street, Pawtucket, R. I.

Included in the soldiers' three-day leave was a visit with Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, First Army commander; and attendance at the double-header baseball game between the Giants and Dodgers Saturday afternoon at the Polo Grounds.

Two Are Given Suspended Terms

Two of four young men arrested for the alleged theft of a coin collection, pleaded guilty and were given suspended sentences in city court following appearances yesterday and today.

An investigation by Detectives Clarence Brophy of the theft reported about two weeks ago by Walter Glennon of Abeel street, led to the arrests. The actual value of the money taken was estimated at $90.

The two who pleaded guilty and made restitution were Richard Bell, 17, of 61 Broadway, and Victor J. Komasa, Jr., of 47 Murray street.

Lorin Clearwater, 18, of Brook street, pleaded not guilty and bail was fixed at $100 pending city court appearance Sept. 11. He was represented by Attorney Charles Saccoman.

Acting City Judge Harry Gold today adjourned until Monday the case of Duane Hamilton, 17, of 177 Murray street, who also pleaded not guilty and was represented by Attorney Joseph Saceoman.

Matteawan Head Says Wrong Man Given His Release

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — The head of the Matteawan State Hospital for the criminal insane says the institution made a mistake when it turned loose a youth who killed four persons four days after his release.

Dr. John F. McNiell, the hospital superintendent, testified here yesterday in a state Court of Claims case in which Mrs. Yula Pansy St. George is asking $101,112 from the state for the death of her husband, Frank.

St. George was one of four persons stabbed to death on March 15, 1950, when Willie Jones, a Brooklyn Negro now 21, ran amok and slashed seven persons on a Brooklyn street. Mrs. St. George contends Jones should not have been released.

Jones was re-admitted to the Matteawan Hospital at Beacon, N. Y., soon after the stabbings. And, McNiell testified, the hospital staff "decided we were not correct" in freeing Jones.

He described Jones as being a psychopathic personality—"an incurable condition"—but was "no longer psychotic" when released. The hospital superintendent said patients often were discharged before they were completely cured.

"We were definitely sure we were correct," he added.

Jones first entered the hospital after he had been sentenced to the Elmira Reformatory. From the reformatory he went to Coxsackie Prison for treatment of tuberculosis and thence to the hospital.

The case continues today.

Placed on Probation For Liquor Violation

New York, Sept. 5 (Special)—Harry Perl, 45, of Greenfield road, Ellenville, drew a six-months suspended sentence and two years probation Thursday in U. S. District Court from Judge Edward Weinfeld for carrying untaxed alcohol. He entered a guilty plea.

Perl was arrested June 20 by state troopers on Route 52 near Ellenville driving a truck bearing passenger car plates. Investigating, police found five one-gallon jugs of alcohol in his car for which no tax had been paid.

Later, at Perl's home, they found a still where the Ellenville man allegedly manufactured the "tax free" liquor.

Perl, who is married and the father of four, was indicted earlier this year.

Dewey Expresses Appreciation to New York Guard

The following self-explanatory communication has been sent by Governor Thomas E. Dewey to the officers and men of the 45th Internal Security Battalion, New York Guard:

Shortly after the outbreak of the Korean War, the New York Guard was reactivited to meet an uncertain and dangerous situation. Many units of our Army and Air National Guard were already mobilized, the organization of civil defense against hostile attack became a grim necessity and there remained the constant threat that all of the remaining National Guard might be ordered to active Federal service, thus depriving the State of New York of its sole military force for internal security.

It was at this juncture that you came forward as volunteers to form the essential cadres of the New York Guard, ready for prompt expansion in the event of an emergency. You have given unsparingly of your time and effort in this task, with no thought of personal recompense or recognition. You duties, limited fortunately by the absence of disaster but unlimited by your own enthusiasm and loyalty, have been performed in a superior manner.

Congressional authorization for the continued maintenance of the Guard will terminate on September 27, 1952, and accordingly the New York Guard will "stand down" as an active force of the organized militia after more than two years of faithful service in the military forces of the state.

Under present plans, each officer and warrant officer of the New York Guard will be transferred to the State Reserve List and will be carried on a roster of mobilization assignments to the deactivated New York Guard in the same grade, position vacancy and organization as at present. Enlisted personnel will be honorably discharged. If it becomes necessary to reactivate the New York Guard in the future, I am hopeful that your valued services may be tendered once again in the military forces of the state, with the same unselfish spirit as in the past.

I wish to express to each one of you, on behalf of the citizens of the state, deep appreciation and gratitude. The state is proud of you.

The cadre of the 45th I. S. Bn., State Armory, Kingston, is comprised of Lt. Col. John J. Schwenk, C.O.; Major Harry Rigby, Jr., executive officer; Captain Bernhardt S. Kramer, S-1; Major John G. Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

With yellow oleo coming into its own in New York state and with many firms giving all sorts of inducements to buy their special brand, I wondered about the history of oleo. The Sunday News of August 31, covers the famous Jelke case and also how the Jelke family made their millions in Good Luck Oleo and the origination of oleo. It seems oleo, or margarine, or whatever it may be called was envolved out of the 1870 Franco-Prussian War as a substitute for butter. The Germans tried to starve out Paris into submission, but it took a Frenchman, a chemist named Dr. Margarine to come up with a substitute for butter. It was churned from milk and animal fat. They fed it to the soldiers and found it was as nourishing as butter. So although the Germans took Paris, oleo came out of the siege and it grew and grew into world wide usage. John Faris Jelke at the age of 33 was a pioneer in the margarine business in this country, and made a fortune.

From time to time I have been asked about Ferris Bros., who were known for their vegetable and flower seeds. It seems they had a place at 70 Albany avenue. I have an interesting illustrated book of "Kingston and Rondout" and their representative business men and points of interest. It was compiled by George F. Bacon and published in 1892 by the Mercantile Publishing Co. of Newark, N. J.

In this book there is an illustration of their greenhouse at 70 Albany avenue. As far as I know today, there is no 70 Albany avenue listed. Back in 1892 the Ferris Brothers were known for their superior taste in the laying out and planting of dooryards as well as in bouquet and design work. They also made a name for themselves in handling high class seeds and bulbs and annually imported large quantities of these from the best growers of England, France, Germany and Holland, to supply their extensive mailing trade. Back in 1892 Broadway at that intersection was known as Union avenue. The book says:" Their seed-store and greenhouses are located at No. 70 Albany avenue, at the head of Union avenue." The Ferris Brothers came to Kingston in 1890, the firm being run locally by Richard Ferris. The other member of the firm was James D. Ferry, who located at Chicago.

This book also carries a story on the Hunt Brothers, when they were contractors and builders, doing jobbing and repairing of all kinds. Their shop was at Pine and Bowery streets. The firm was composed of Alonzo, Lorenzo and Orlando Hunt, all of whom were natives of Kingston. They carried on their business since 1872, according to the book. I take it their family later went into the circus business. They visit Kingston annually.

Rats eat or destroy as much food in the United States annually as the total production of 265,000 farmers.

Truck Rental Service

A U-Drive truck rental service is now in operation by the JayBee Company of Port Ewen with headquarters at the Port Ewen Garage, Broadway and Main street, Port Ewen.

This new service offers to the public the use of new Studebaker trucks on a U-Drive basis, with rates by the hour, day or week. Three trucks are now in service and more will be added as needed.

The JayBee Company is owned by P. J. Beichert, owner of the Port Ewen Garage, and P. J. Beichert, Jr., who is now serving with the U. S. Naval Air Forces at Agana Naval Air Station, Guam, Marianas Islands.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 4—Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Friday included Mr. and Mrs. George Wilmott of the Princess Bay section of Staten Island. George began coming to Olive Bridge 50 years ago as a summer boarder at the Jacob V. Merrihew farmhouse near the Tongore Brook. He recalls many of the old residents of years before the waterworks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lorenz of Brooklyn were holiday guests at the Henry Gebelein homestead in the village center.

Mrs. Albin Emler and son John, of Washington, D. C., are guests at the home of Mrs. Emler's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin VanSteenburgh. The former Macel Greene, a native of this section, spent the summer on a tour of 11 European countries.

In Andes, Delaware county, a cow was found dead in the pasture as a result of having swallowed a piece of barbed wire which caused an infection. A more cheerful farm note comes from Walton where Frank Seely has installed, and with gratifying success, a system of pasture irrigation. The idea is reported to have found favor in other sections of the Empire State where by providing good fall grazing it has had the effect of easing the strain on winter fodder stores on large dairy farms.

Betty Gruber of uptown Kingston was a guest Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

Mrs. Michael Anthony and three children of New York spent the holiday here. The Anthonys, formerly regular summer occupants of the B. VanSteenburgh tenant house, recently vacationed in Connecticut for about three weeks.

James Aldrich, chef on one of the Cornell tugs operating along the Hudson, spent the weekend with his wife at the Joseph Aldrich residence opposite the corner store. The James Aldriches have rented a house in Woodstock. Mrs. Aldrich is a member of the Cave family of the Richmond, Va., area.

Birthdays falling Sunday, Sept. 7, include that of Mrs. Jerry (Lizzie Decker) VanKleeck, town of Rochester matron who has many friends in Olive. Born at Palentown, she was employed as a young woman for several years at Mrs. E. P. James' Willow Brook summer boarding house at Brodhead. During waterworks days she resided at Brown's Station where her husband was manager of the John VanKleeck livery stable. The VanKleecks have a son, Winston, also of Tobasco.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Terhune and three children, summer visitors to Shokan for many years, have returned to their home in Mt. Vernon following a vacation sojourn at one of the L. F. Ruckert bungalows in the village center. Mrs. Robert Kelly, the former Dorothy Terhune, also was here the last week in August. The Ruckert bungalows and main house apartments have all been occupied during the season.

Mrs. George Weeks, formerly Olive Bogart, who died Friday at her home in Stone Ridge, had a number of friends and relatives in this section where she and her husband, a native of Shokan, have been frequent callers for many years. Mrs. Weeks was a sister of May Bogart and Mrs. Newton Smith who resided in Shokan some 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shay and children of Long Island City returned home Monday after having occupied the H. J. Gebelein duplex bungalow all summer.

It is now reported that there are three Republicans to every Democrat in neighboring Delaware county. The names, Ulster and Delaware, so long associated in past years with a turnpike and a railroad, now symbolize a consistently rock-ribbed GOP territory, it is reported.

Sunday, Sept. 7 marks another birthday for Edward VanKleeck, Ashokan resident and head mechanic at Haver's Garage for many years.

The tremendous volume of traffic flowing cityward Monday was more evenly spread out through the day and night as a result of the bad weather. Hundreds of motorists, convinced that the rain wasn't going to let up, went back during the forenoon. Then came the deluge; one party setting out from the village in late afternoon, had to quit at West Hurley because of the heavy downpour and too much smoke in the car. They returned here and set forth again during the night.

Jean Carpenter returned to her home in Richmond Hill Monday. The young woman while here entertained some of her local friends with moving pictures showing the highlights of a motor trip which she, in company with Helen Haberman of Oak Hill and Mrs. Thomas Carpenter, made last year to Canada and through western states to Yellowstone Park. The big bears and the geysers in the park were especially interesting to the oldest member of Miss Carpenter's audience who for the first time was seeing a movie show.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Sept. 5—Reformed Church, the Rev. Gerrit Timmer, minister—Worship service at 9:45. The Rev. and Mrs. Timmer returned Wednesday from a two weeks' vacation in the west and the Rev. Mr. Timmer will deliver the sermon Sunday. Sunday school will meet at 9.

St. John's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Charles Brieant, vicar. Morning worship service at 10 preceded by Sunday school at 9:15.

The Ladies' Aid held a dinner meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Williams with a good attendance.

Mrs. Julia Steen, widow of DeWitt Steen, and mother of Stanley Steen and Mrs. Reuben Barrett died Monday night at her home here the day before her 84th birthday. Prior to her illness, Mrs. Steen was an active member of the Reformed Church and the Ladies' Aid in the village.

Mrs. Alice Olsen of Brooklyn is spending some time with her daughter and family, the Richard Andersens.

Miss Mary Roosa of Maine spent a week recently with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Williams.

Captain Clarence Winchell, Jr., returned home via air from Korea last Thursday. Next week he goes to Fort Devens, Mass., for final separation from the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Winchell, Sr., moved this week to the former Robert Christiana place.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ruffner and children, Bruce and Sally, spent the weekend at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware with the Fred Warings.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Snyder and daughter, Barbara, of Valley Stream, L. I., were guests of Miss Kate Krom Friday.

Mrs. Alvah Bell, Mrs. Edith Smith and children, Gloria Jean and Paul, and Mrs. Harry Secor of Port Ewen, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jansen Sunday. They also attended the morning service at the Reformed Church.

Victor Lewis is improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thomas of Mt. Vernon are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gaudio.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Tucker and daughter have moved to High Falls. Mr. Tucker is Mrs. Gaudio's son.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cole of Long Island are spending part of their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Steen.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Festus Yeaple, Mrs. Anna Kulp of Trenton, N. J., and Mrs. Gus Gerlach motored through the Catskills visiting Grand Gorge, Lexington, Prattsville and Roxbury, en route.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ransom of Johnson City spent the weekend with Mr. Ransom's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ransom. Mr. and Mrs. Arvine Ransom of the same place spent the weekend with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbeck. On Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ransom entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Arvine Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbeck and son, Roy; Mr. and Mrs. Edmond O'Hara and sons Eddie and Lennie, and the Rev. Malcolm Shattuck.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving J. LeFevre of Dumont, N. J., Mrs. Laura HasBrouck Dwight, Mrs. Jean HasBrouck Howland and Mrs. Bessie DuBois of New Paltz were callers at Hillcrest Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. LeFevre have returned from a week's stay at Elizabethtown where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davenport at the New Windsor Hotel. While there they met the Rev. Harold Hoffman, a former pastor of the High Falls and Stone Ridge Reformed Churches, who recently returned from Korea where he was a chaplain in the U. S. Army. The Rev. Mr. Hoffman is a candidate now for a new pastorate having resigned his former charge when he entered the service.

On Tuesday Mrs. Floyd Turner received the Bronze Star which had been awarded her son Pvt. Harry Turner for "heroic achievement at Fagimak, Korea in the evacuation of his wounded comrades on Jan. 13. It further said that such action was taken with great personal danger to himself and resulted in the saving of several lives. Pvt. Turner was promoted to First Class Sergeant April 9. In December last year, he received the Purple Heart for wounds received in action. On Sept. 20, he will have completed a year's service in Korea.

Miss Phyllis Sponder celebrated her 16th birthday with a Sweet Sixteen Party at Spindler's Hotel Aug. 23. Guests included Roslyn Schwartz, Estelle Raby, Harriet Rosenthal, Barbara Shattais, Harriet Silverstein, Roberta Silver, Harriet Forgarg, Melvyn Sponder, Paul Rosenthal, Melvin Solomon, Murray Lefsky, Melvin Kransky, Bernard Schumacher, Allan Steinberg, Marty Geue, Jimmy Mazzafeno, Stanley Hills and Jack Guerner of New York and the following from High Falls and vicinity, Bobby Williams, Bonar Scott, Paul Johnson, Jimmy Sickler, Bill Osterhoudt, Fred Spongia, Bill Davenport, Gene Roosa, Bill Williams, John Cooper, Atki Damascus, Clarence Smith, Elaine Watte, Beth Ann Smith, Louise Williams, Lillian Skrypek, Hazel Swehla, Rosa Terschmann, Sonya Andersen and Beverly Nicholas.

Would Mean Persecution

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Catholic Association for International Peace urges firm support of the U. S. government's stand against forced repatriation of non-Communist war prisoners in Korea. The Roman Catholic group yesterday issued a statement by its ethics committee which said forcing such prisoners to return to Red-ruled areas would be "cooperating in the persecution or death of these prisoners."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

With yellow oleo coming into its own in New York state and with many firms giving all sorts of inducements to buy their special brand, I wondered about the history of oleo. The Sunday News of August 31, covers the famous Jelke case and also how the Jelke family made their millions in Good Luck Oleo and the origination of oleo. It seems oleo, or margarine, or whatever it may be called was envolved out of the 1870 Franco-Prussian War as a substitute for butter. The Germans tried to starve out Paris into submission, but it took a Frenchman, a chemist named Dr. Margarine to come up with a substitute for butter. It was churned from milk and animal fat. They fed it to the soldiers and found it was as nourishing as butter. So although the Germans took Paris, oleo came out of the siege and it grew and grew into world wide usage. John Faris Jelke at the age of 33 was a pioneer in the margarine business in this country, and made a fortune.

From time to time I have been asked about Ferris Bros., who were known for their vegetable and flower seeds. It seems they had a place at 70 Albany avenue. I have an interesting illustrated book of "Kingston and Rondout" and their representative business men and points of interest. It was compiled by George F. Bacon and published in 1892 by the Mercantile Publishing Co. of Newark, N. J.

In this book there is an illustration of their greenhouse at 70 Albany avenue. As far as I know today, there is no 70 Albany avenue listed. Back in 1892 the Ferris Brothers were known for their superior taste in the laying out and planting of dooryards as well as in bouquet and design work. They also made a name for themselves in handling high class seeds and bulbs and annually imported large quantities of these from the best growers of England, France, Germany and Holland, to supply their extensive mailing trade. Back in 1892 Broadway at that intersection was known as Union avenue. The book says:" Their seed-store and greenhouses are located at No. 70 Albany avenue, at the head of Union avenue." The Ferris Brothers came to Kingston in 1890, the firm being run locally by Richard Ferris. The other member of the firm was James D. Ferry, who located at Chicago.

This book also carries a story on the Hunt Brothers, when they were contractors and builders, doing jobbing and repairing of all kinds. Their shop was at Pine and Bowery streets. The firm was composed of Alonzo, Lorenzo and Orlando Hunt, all of whom were natives of Kingston. They carried on their business since 1872, according to the book. I take it their family later went into the circus business. They visit Kingston annually.

Rats eat or destroy as much food in the United States annually as the total production of 265,000 farmers.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 4—Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Friday included Mr. and Mrs. George Wilmott of the Princess Bay section of Staten Island. George began coming to Olive Bridge 50 years ago as a summer boarder at the Jacob V. Merrihew farmhouse near the Tongore Brook. He recalls many of the old residents of years before the waterworks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lorenz of Brooklyn were holiday guests at the Henry Gebelein homestead in the village center.

Mrs. Albin Emler and son John, of Washington, D. C., are guests at the home of Mrs. Emler's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin VanSteenburgh. The former Macel Greene, a native of this section, spent the summer on a tour of 11 European countries.

In Andes, Delaware county, a cow was found dead in the pasture as a result of having swallowed a piece of barbed wire which caused an infection. A more cheerful farm note comes from Walton where Frank Seely has installed, and with gratifying success, a system of pasture irrigation. The idea is reported to have found favor in other sections of the Empire State where by providing good fall grazing it has had the effect of easing the strain on winter fodder stores on large dairy farms.

Betty Gruber of uptown Kingston was a guest Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf.

Mrs. Michael Anthony and three children of New York spent the holiday here. The Anthonys, formerly regular summer occupants of the B. VanSteenburgh tenant house, recently vacationed in Connecticut for about three weeks.

James Aldrich, chef on one of the Cornell tugs operating along the Hudson, spent the weekend with his wife at the Joseph Aldrich residence opposite the corner store. The James Aldriches have rented a house in Woodstock. Mrs. Aldrich is a member of the Cave family of the Richmond, Va., area.

Birthdays falling Sunday, Sept. 7, include that of Mrs. Jerry (Lizzie Decker) VanKleeck, town of Rochester matron who has many friends in Olive. Born at Palentown, she was employed as a young woman for several years at Mrs. E. P. James' Willow Brook summer boarding house at Brodhead. During waterworks days she resided at Brown's Station where her husband was manager of the John VanKleeck livery stable. The VanKleecks have a son, Winston, also of Tobasco.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Terhune and three children, summer visitors to Shokan for many years, have returned to their home in Mt. Vernon following a vacation sojourn at one of the L. F. Ruckert bungalows in the village center. Mrs. Robert Kelly, the former Dorothy Terhune, also was here the last week in August. The Ruckert bungalows and main house apartments have all been occupied during the season.

Mrs. George Weeks, formerly Olive Bogart, who died Friday at her home in Stone Ridge, had a number of friends and relatives in this section where she and her husband, a native of Shokan, have been frequent callers for many years. Mrs. Weeks was a sister of May Bogart and Mrs. Newton Smith who resided in Shokan some 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shay and children of Long Island City returned home Monday after having occupied the H. J. Gebelein duplex bungalow all summer.

It is now reported that there are three Republicans to every Democrat in neighboring Delaware county. The names, Ulster and Delaware, so long associated in past years with a turnpike and a railroad, now symbolize a consistently rock-ribbed GOP territory, it is reported.

Sunday, Sept. 7 marks another birthday for Edward VanKleeck, Ashokan resident and head mechanic at Haver's Garage for many years.

The tremendous volume of traffic flowing cityward Monday was more evenly spread out through the day and night as a result of the bad weather. Hundreds of motorists, convinced that the rain wasn't going to let up, went back during the forenoon. Then came the deluge; one party setting out from the village in late afternoon, had to quit at West Hurley because of the heavy downpour and too much smoke in the car. They returned here and set forth again during the night.

Jean Carpenter returned to her home in Richmond Hill Monday. The young woman while here entertained some of her local friends with moving pictures showing the highlights of a motor trip which she, in company with Helen Haberman of Oak Hill and Mrs. Thomas Carpenter, made last year to Canada and through western states to Yellowstone Park. The big bears and the geysers in the park were especially interesting to the oldest member of Miss Carpenter's audience who for the first time was seeing a movie show.

St. John's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Charles Brieant, vicar. Morning worship service at 10 preceded by Sunday school at 9:15.

The Ladies' Aid held a dinner meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Williams with a good attendance.

Mrs. Julia Steen, widow of DeWitt Steen, and mother of Stanley Steen and Mrs. Reuben Barrett died Monday night at her home here the day before her 84th birthday. Prior to her illness, Mrs. Steen was an active member of the Reformed Church and the Ladies' Aid in the village.

Mrs. Alice Olsen of Brooklyn is spending some time with her daughter and family, the Richard Andersens.

Miss Mary Roosa of Maine spent a week recently with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Ruffner and children, Bruce and Sally, spent the weekend at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware with the Fred Warings.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Snyder and daughter, Barbara, of Valley Stream, L. I., were guests of Miss Kate Krom Friday.

Mrs. Alvah Bell, Mrs. Edith Smith and children, Gloria Jean and Paul, and Mrs. Harry Secor of Port Ewen, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jansen Sunday. They also attended the morning service at the Reformed Church.

Victor Lewis is improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thomas of Mt. Vernon are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Gaudio.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Tucker and daughter have moved to High Falls. Mr. Tucker is Mrs. Gaudio's son.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cole of Long Island are spending part of their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Steen.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Festus Yeaple, Mrs. Anna Kulp of Trenton, N. J., and Mrs. Gus Gerlach motored through the Catskills visiting Grand Gorge, Lexington, Prattsville and Roxbury, en route.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ransom of Johnson City spent the weekend with Mr. Ransom's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ransom. Mr. and Mrs. Arvine Ransom of the same place spent the weekend with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbeck. On Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ransom entertained at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Arvine Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbeck and son, Roy; Mr. and Mrs. Edmond O'Hara and sons Eddie and Lennie, and the Rev. Malcolm Shattuck.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving J. LeFevre of Dumont, N. J., Mrs. Laura HasBrouck Dwight, Mrs. Jean HasBrouck Howland and Mrs. Bessie DuBois of New Paltz were callers at Hillcrest Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. LeFevre have returned from a week's stay at Elizabethtown where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Davenport at the New Windsor Hotel. While there they met the Rev. Harold Hoffman, a former pastor of the High Falls and Stone Ridge Reformed Churches, who recently returned from Korea where he was a chaplain in the U. S. Army. The Rev. Mr. Hoffman is a candidate now for a new pastorate having resigned his former charge when he entered the service.

On Tuesday Mrs. Floyd Turner received the Bronze Star which had been awarded her son Pvt. Harry Turner for "heroic achievement at Fagimak, Korea in the evacuation of his wounded comrades on Jan. 13. It further said that such action was taken with great personal danger to himself and resulted in the saving of several lives. Pvt. Turner was promoted to First Class Sergeant April 9. In December last year, he received the Purple Heart for wounds received in action. On Sept. 20, he will have completed a year's service in Korea.

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Catholic Association for International Peace urges firm support of the U. S. government's stand against forced repatriation of non-Communist war prisoners in Korea. FAILURE OF PREDICTIONS

It's a commonplace of the stock market that big events are anticipated days and sometimes weeks in advance. Thus discounted ahead of time, the events usually produce little shock when they actually occur.

Lately some of the experts judging the national and world scene have been going pretty heavily into this business of anticipating things to come. With this difference: they haven't always been so successful in measuring the prospects, and consequently the actual events have often dealt something of a blow.

This being an election year, it is probably a painful time to remind the experts of the fiasco of 1948, when President Truman upset the carefully calculated thoughts of most veteran observers, and won re-election.

Since then a good many other events have been misjudged. The ranting Russians were figured to make a stir at the San Francisco Japanese peace treaty session last fall. They didn't. General Eisenhower's June return to this country was foreseen as almost certain to touch off a prairie fire. It didn't. Examples are legion.

Perhaps these discrepancies between forecast and event wouldn't arouse too much concern if the erring observers simply acknowledged mistakes and vowed they wouldn't happen again.

But some of the experts insist on blaming the participants in the events, instead of themselves, when things don't work out as they predicted. A few go so far as to distort the story of an actual event to fit what proves to be their own far-fetched anticipation of it.

So we get some pretty tortured versions of current history these days. Why?

Certainly it never was easy to foretell activities in the realm of practical affairs. There is no accurate barometer for human behavior. But over the decades some pretty sound guesses were made of what was to come.

Nowadays the confusion of affairs has vastly complicated the task of predicting. That very complexity is the prime excuse for error by the experts. They can cover only so much ground themselves, and thereafter are dependent upon the findings of others.

But the difficulties of digging for even that part of the facts which one man can fairly unearth have tended to discourage too many. A lot of them have therefore become little more than collectors of surface impressions, and rather jaded collectors at that. When they supplement these with the surface gleanings of others, they erect a shaky pyramid that can topple at the first real breath of reality.

There is no cure for this condition but hard work. Because the world is harder to understand does not mean we can abandon the project. The manpower and the facilities for grappling with this task in America are unexampled.

Instead of talking events to death before they occur, our experts ought to spend their time scanning thoroughly the groundwork for those events—talking to all the people they can, reviewing past history where it has a bearing, getting and keeping the feel of the country where the events will be made. This sounds simple enough, but it's become a rather uncommon practice.

Less talk and more action on the observers' front wouldn't eliminate forecasting errors. But it might make the surprises less frequent.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT!

Strange news comes out of Switzerland. The government had established a television station for free use by set owners. Now they find that so little interest is taken in TV that they plan to abandon the service.

We often hear of the great gap in thinking that separates the United States from Russia. This is as nothing, however, compared with this newly discovered fundamental difference between America and Switzerland.

WHO PROTECTS LEFTISTS?

During the Tydings Committee investigation into subversives and how they manage to get into critical places where they can affect, if not dominate, the day-by-day handling of our foreign policy, particularly the expenditure of our money, curious things happened. Some of them looked as though Senator Tydings himself were doing some protecting and that is why he was defeated for re-election in Maryland.

One case is that of Theodore Geiger, once an employe of the State Department and subsequently an important assistant to Paul G. Hoffman at the ECA. Counsel for the Republican members of the Tydings Committee, Robert Morris, stated to the committee:

"There is a case of a man named Theodore Geiger. He has been an employe of the State Department. He is now one of Paul Hoffman's top assistants. He is doing work that is quasi-State Department in character. I have [illegible] witnesses together who will testify that he was a member of the same Communist Party [illegible] were, and I think we would be delinquent if in the face of this evidence that is now on record. . . ."

To this, Tydings replied:

"Turn it over to the FBI or do something else with it. . . . We don't want to waste this afternoon."

In spite of this colloquy and with no further investigation, Geiger remained in a high position in Paul G. Hoffman's organization. However, the McCarran Committee revived the inquiry. The subject for consideration was the Communist cell at Columbia University. The following is pertinent to Theodore Geiger, Paul Hoffman's assistant:

"Senator Ferguson. . . . Do you know any other Communist in your cells or that you knew up in these colleges that came down in the government, the United States Government?

"(William Martin) Canning. There was one other who belonged to the same Columbia University unit, Theodore Geiger.

"Senator Ferguson. Was he a Communist?

"Mr. Canning. Yes, he was. . . .

"Senator Ferguson. Where did you know him?

"Mr. Canning. I knew him both at City College where he was a student, and later at Columbia University where he continued his graduate studies.

"Senator Ferguson. About when did he leave there? . . .

"Mr. Canning. I think he finished at City College, he received his bachelor's degree in 1935.

"Senator Ferguson. Where did he come in the Government?

"Mr. Canning. Into the Economic Cooperation Administration.

"Senator Ferguson. Do you know whether he is in Government now?

"Mr. Canning. No. I have been informed that he has resigned.

"Senator Ferguson. When?

"Mr. Canning. Not a very long time ago, several months ago. . . .

"Senator Ferguson. What was his position in Government?

"Mr. Canning. He was, I believe, Deputy Administrator to the ECA, though I am not certain of his exact title.

"Senator Ferguson. That is the same man that you knew in Columbia as a Communist?

"Mr. Canning. Yes, sir.

"Senator Ferguson. Was he active in Communism?

"Mr. Canning. He was.

Senator Ferguson. As active as you and Finkelstein?

"Mr. Canning. Not quite as active as Finkelstein, but perhaps as active as I was."

There is one other reference to Theodore Geiger in the McCarran Committee testimony. Moses Finley is being examined. He says that he is a teacher at Rutgers University and that he is operating under a grant from the Ford Foundation of which Paul G. Hoffman is now the head. To avoid confusion, it must be noted that Moses Finley is the Finkelstein referred to above in the Canning testimony. He had altered his name. This is the testimony concerning Geiger:

"Mr. Morris. Did you ever meet Mr. Theodore Geiger?

"Mr. Finley. Yes.

"Mr. Morris. Did Mr. Geiger ever attend a meeting at your home?

"Mr. Finley. Yes.

"Senator Watkins. Do you know any Communists?

"Mr. Finley. I must decline to answer on the grounds previously stated."

I do not know what Theodore Geiger is doing today or where he is. It is curious, however, that Paul G. Hoffman, who is now a big-shot Republican politician and who has about $25,000,000 of Henry Ford's money to spend each year, should select assistants after attention had been called to Communist affiliations. Also, the elder Henry Ford surely never intended that his money be employed to support persons who will not testify fully before a Congressional committee.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

SILENT GALLSTONES

An elderly man began to feel a pain across the abdomen in the region of stomach and immediately thought he had an ulcer or cancer, as one brother had died of cancer of the stomach and the other from perforation of an ulcer in the stomach. X-rays of stomach and intestine showed no ulcer or cancer present but a later X-ray examination showed many stones in the gall bladder. As he had had one or two attacks of gall-bladder colic during the previous twenty years, his physician referred him to a surgeon.

The man was 75 years of age and had no symptoms except an occasional dull pain across the abdomen. The surgeon, therefore, felt he might have no further trouble and advised against operation at present. The patient was advised to consult his physician if further symptoms developed, however.

It is believed that at least 40 to 50 per cent of men and women past 40 to 50 years of age have gallstones, but perhaps only a small percentage of them ever have any disturbance from them and need no treatment except to eat smaller meals and less fat if any disturbance occurs.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. B. O. C. Pribram, of the surgical staff of St. Clare's Hospital, New York city, discusses silent and severe or painful gallstones and whether or not these silent gallstones should undergo operation to forestall any operation at some future time under unfavorable conditions.

Dr. Pribram reports an experiment in which, through an existing opening from gall bladder to outer surface of the body, a probe was inserted into gall bladder and a part of the lining scraped to cause irritation, yet patient felt no pain. However, when neck (duct) of gall bladder through which the gall (bile) empties into a neighboring duct, was scraped, severe pain occurred, as with the passing of a gallstone. From this we learn that a gallstone located in the body of the gall bladder (the silent area) causes no pain but if it moves to the duct or neck of gall bladder, pain (colic) may occur.

We also learn that lining of the gall bladder distant from the duct or neck is a silent and insensitive zone or area and that stones may lie there "indefinitely" without causing any symptoms. Should the gallstone shift to neck of gall bladder, it may even then cause no symptoms but, if symptoms are severe, operation may be necessary.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A paper bag of rabbit food is on my desk . . . a broken slingshot, a book called "Trigger" (Roy Rogers' horse) . . . a pair of swimming trunks is on a chair . . . still damp . . . a pair of dirty shoes, very small shoes, are under the couch . . . my room is a shambles, littered with remnants of my vacation—reminders of a small boy who spent the vacation with me.

He is a small boy who isn't interested in Eisenhower or Stevenson . . . who doesn't know the nation is about to hold an election, who has no idea that this election could shape the destiny of the world, perhaps decide whether some day he himself will march off to war.

This small boy had the faculty of making his grandfather feel both very young and very old. His energy was inexhaustible, his questions endless, their scope limitless. . . . "Why do mosquitoes make you itch, grandfather?" . . . "Who teaches little calves how to get milk from their mothers?" . . . "Can eagles fly away with little boys? . . . Can hawks? . . . Can buzzards?" . . . "Why do pigeons always eat your alfalfa seed and not other people's, Grandpa?" . . . "Why does Harry Truman (our bull) always break down so many fences?" . . . I have had hundreds of questions fired at me in public forums or by irate readers, but none so difficult to answer — though so pleasant.

Pleasant Exhaustion

It has been said that if a college athlete attempted to follow the exact antics of a two-year-old in crawling, walking, running for one full day, he would be exhausted.

My grandson is five, not two; and I am no college athlete. But I can attest that the above theory must be approximately correct. For never have I had so much exercise; never at the end of a vacation have I been so exhausted—so in need of the comparative peace of the political arena where one merely badgers politicians and is called names by Presidents.

Nevertheless, I would not have exchanged this two weeks for a dozen trips to the Adirondacks, Maine or Alaska.

My daughter will never forgive me for spoiling him, and when she sees the way the barber sheared his locks while I wasn't looking, I'm afraid she'll never let me come again.

I had intended coming back to the columning business with a reverberating scoop on world affairs. But the truth is I have scarcely looked at a newspaper. My typewriter is unopened; my bulging brief case untouched.

Far Removed From Corruption

So before I get back to the grind of being the tough, hard-boiled poker under the political rocks looking for the worms of corruption, I hope I may be forgiven if I say just a word about life with a young man who has scarcely heard the word corruption and who aside from "influencing" himself out of taking a bath at night wouldn't know what the word means.

For if you ever want to relive your youth. . . . If you ever dream of the birds' nests you used to find, the trees you used to climb, the garter snakes you used to catch and take to Sunday school to scare little girls. . . . The frog's legs you used to fry in a skillet out of doors. . . . The streams you used to dam up to make a waist-high swimming hole. . . . The giant hay-loads you used to ride, setting way-up so high you got scratched by the branches as you came up the lane to the barn. . . . Or the baby rabbit you used to catch after the mowing machine had uncovered their nest in the hayfield. . . .

If you have, and want to recapture your youth, then just take your grandson out on a farm for two weeks and all those memories will come crowding back, more vivid than ever. And you'll be so tired at night, you won't lie awake thinking about the problems of the world.

Beside the Potomac

My two weeks were spent on a farm on the banks of the Potomac where the stone forts of the Union Army once looked across at the Johnny Rebs on the other side in Virginia.

The sharpened trees that were pointed down the hill toward the river to keep the Johnny Rebs from crossing are gone now; but some of the stone ramparts still remain. And sitting near them in the moonlight on those nights when I was not too exhausted even to sit, I could almost see the ghosts of men maneuvering for position in the shadow of the oak trees in that bloody, futile war 90 years ago.

The Potomac still flows on serenely in the moonlight. The fish jump in the moonlight. And if you toss a pebble from the cliff alongside our farm, its ripples spread out in the moonlight as if no blood had ever stained its waters—as if no war or fear of future war ever ruffled its surface on the way past Washington, past the White House to the sea.

I do not know how many sons and grandsons have marched forth to war as a result of decisions made on the banks of the Potomac. I cannot predict how many more may march in the future. I only know—as I am left with strict instructions on how to feed two rabbits—that we of the present generation have a greater obligation than perhaps we realize.

And if we can instill among our fellow men some of the love and faith of our grandchildren; if we can banish hate, deception, fear; if we can truly remember the teaching "a little child shall lead them;" then the wars that have been fought along the Potomac and elsewhere some day may be no more.

Speech by Gen. Eisenhower Is Considered Call for U. S. World Leadership

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 4 — Gen. Eisenhower has made a sensational effort to restore the United States to the position of leadership it had at the close of World War II.

The remarkable speech delivered by the general at Philadelphia is the first piece of constructive criticism that has come from some one of world-wide prestige who, though conceding the importance and value of international cooperation, deplores the bungling and inconsistencies of President Truman and Secretary Acheson which have led to the conditions that brought on the Korean War and could conceivably plunge the world once more into a global conflict.

The general's words say what Congressional committees, because of their partisan nature, have not clearly said and what the American people have not been told by any one who could speak with authority about conditions in Washington prior to the Korean War.

For the truth is that the Administration spent fifty billions between 1945 and 1950 and yet was unprepared for the Korean War. Also it failed militarily to deploy its forces in such a way as to be able to make an effective effort in Korea when the war did break out. Gen. Eisenhower, as a military man, knows what that blunder cost the American people. The significant passage in his speech covers the entire situation in a few sentences when he says:

"Why are we at war in Korea?

"We are in that war because of failure to observe some of the principles for preventing war which I shall outline tonight.

"We are in that war because this Administration grossly underestimated the actual threat.

"We are in that war because this Administration allowed America, in a time when strength was needed, to become weak. Consequently it felt compelled to take its forces out of that region.

"We are in that war because, having helped set up the Korean Republic, and knowing that strength was being massed against that republic north of its borders, there was a failure to build up adequate strength in Korea's own defense forces.

"We are in that war because this Administration abandoned China to the Communists.

"We are in that war because this Administration announced to all the world that it had written off most of the Far East as beyond our direct concern."

This indictment can be documented from the record of what the secretary of state said and what pro-Communist advisers told the State Department to do in abandoning China. The Senate Internal Security Committee, in its recent report, unanimously approved by Republicans and Democrats, tells in detail how China was abandoned.

By talking up bluntly about the Korean War, the general has touched on a delicate issue in America today. The war has caused more than 110,000 casualties for America alone, and has brought a draft law that is drawing from 30,000 to 50,000 boys into the armed services every month. Along with it has come disturbed economic conditions in the country generally.

The general did not discuss the actual operation of the Korean War by our commanders, hamstrung, as they have been, by the State Department, which has not asserted itself in the councils of the United Nations with sufficient leadership to win world-wide support for the cause. He did, however, call for support of the UN itself and at the same time urged that, as a step toward peace, besides military preparation, America "make imaginative and practical use of every other means of preventing war." On this phase he is hitting directly at the blundering job in world propaganda done by the State Department, which has consistently refused to let this activity become a separate operation, preferring to keep it as a subordinate and insignificant bureau in a huge department run by pussyfot policies.

The most important point that the general made was his demand for clarity and consistency in foreign policy. He rejects the Truman-Acheson foreign policy as having dragged the nation into war and as having encouraged the Communistic regime in Moscow. He says a new administration under his leadership "will move toward peace by setting before us clear and positive goals." He adds:

"Must we go on with patchwork, crazy quilt operations? Must we go on with one policy for Europe, a feeble policy for South America, little policy for the Middle East, and changing policies for Asia? Must we go on writing off the Far East at one moment and at almost the next finding our sons fighting and dying in Korea? Must we at one time woo the Soviets as though they could be trusted, and then fall into hysterical fear of them?"

The demand for "clear and positive goals" is a simple but compact statement of what has been lacking and what must be supplied if American leadership is to be restored in the world—if the Communist imperialists in Moscow are to have respect for the spoken words and acts of the United States.

This was more than a campaign speech that Gen. Eisenhower made at Philadelphia—it was an address of world-wide importance which will displease Moscow but will hearten the free world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I note with skepticism that Noel Busch writes in his biography of Adlai Stevenson that, although Stevenson spent two years at Harvard Law School, he never met Felix Frankfurter, the patron of the cult which was created by stealth in our government, including in its membership three of the worst Reds in the entire Communist "apparatus" as Whittaker Chambers called it. The three that I have in mind are Alger Hiss, of course, and Lee Pressman and Nathan Witt.

I don't believe this statement and I do believe it was concocted to dissociate Stevenson from Frankfurter for campaign purposes. I knew Busch as a frivolous, blase Princeton slummer in the sportwriting business in the era of wonderful nonsense. Thereafter he spent a long time with the mysterious China-Boy Luce propaganda machine whose product always should be searched for ulterior motives. However, I assume that Busch is honest and is merely telling us what Stevenson told him because Stevenson wants us to believe it.

Frankfurter is not a modest Frankfurter is expressed in a monosyllable that has no place in a family newspaper. Frankfurter is devious and cunning as Harold Ickes proved when he wrote that Felix admitted that it was he who planted the plaint, puzzled old Republican derelict Henry L. Stimson in Roosevelt's cabinet as secretary of war.

Altogether, Frankfurter was not such a character as Stevenson would have been likely not to meet in two years at Harvard Law and I believe they did meet. I add up some known facts to arrive at the opinion that Stevenson's reason for berating those who expose Reds and fellow-travelers is that he spent several years in the thick of them in Washington and knows that a degree of suspicion falls on him. I wouldn't think of calling him a Communist but if a fellow-traveler is one who can run with Communists day after day for years, work with them and carry on social relations with them without suspecting them, then that goes for Adlai Stevenson. It is up to us to decide for ourselves whether this double-dome of the New Deal Socialist machine, with the Harvard gullah grafted onto his cornbelt accent, and the superior brain which is said to qualify him for the presidency of our socialist reman. He is pushful and arrogant and at least one of his brethren on the Supreme Court has barely restrained himself from busting him right on the snoot in open court. I think you could guess that this would be Justice Bill Douglas, whose opinion of public was too dumb to detect the obvious. I think he was too smart. But if he was that dumb he certainly is too dumb to be president of my country.

The fact that Stevenson says nothing about his two-year term of study at Harvard Law in his biography in Who's Who is another suspicious circumstance. It is very extraordinary that this lawyer refrained from mentioning in his biography the fact that he spent two years as a resident student at a school which is, for all the notoriety which has soiled its name in recent years, nevertheless regarded as one of the best. If Stevenson had been kicked out for some disgraceful act, that might explain it but I understand that he departed with honor, so that possibility fails.

I note also that Stevenson reported in the 1945 edition of Who's Who that he was a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations, but dropped that item later and never put it back. The evil reputation of the IPR is too voluminous to permit even a review here and if Stevenson told me he got out of it or quit listing his membership for insignificant reasons I wouldn't take him at his word there, either.

He was a trustee of the World Citizens Association in 1945 and dropped that entry too. And he was a trustee of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation while Alger Hiss also was a trustee and knew him so well and favorably that he swore to Hiss's reputation for his trial.

Altogether, the facts justify a belief that his outcry against the smearing of "innocent" persons by the likes of Joe McCarthy and Pat McCarran is a cry of apprehension, not indignation.

Last fall, Louis Bromfield wrote a bellow along the same line and I noted that he had built up a multiple record of associations, himself, which invited the sort of attention that he deplored as un-American. During the political conventions I said I would have asked him to write a piece in reply except that he was a high-priced professional and therefore an invitation to him would be misconstrued. I tried to crank him up but Louis said he didn't want to pursue the subject. We parted on good terms but Bromfield is not running for president. He can be as silly and naive as he likes and he doesn't measurably hurt the United States, although he might give aid and comfort to traitors operating pro-Communist fronts. But Stevenson wants to be president and we have to be more exacting.

I can't understand how people who boast of their education and brains can plead that they didn't know. It doesn't take intelligence. Your nose knows.

FAILURE OF PREDICTIONS

It's a commonplace of the stock market that big events are anticipated days and sometimes weeks in advance. Thus discounted ahead of time, the events usually produce little shock when they actually occur.

Lately some of the experts judging the national and world scene have been going pretty heavily into this business of anticipating things to come. With this difference: they haven't always been so successful in measuring the prospects, and consequently the actual events have often dealt something of a blow.

This being an election year, it is probably a painful time to remind the experts of the fiasco of 1948, when President Truman upset the carefully calculated thoughts of most veteran observers, and won re-election.

Since then a good many other events have been misjudged. The ranting Russians were figured to make a stir at the San Francisco Japanese peace treaty session last fall. They didn't. General Eisenhower's June return to this country was foreseen as almost certain to touch off a prairie fire. It didn't. Examples are legion.

Perhaps these discrepancies between forecast and event wouldn't arouse too much concern if the erring observers simply acknowledged mistakes and vowed they wouldn't happen again.

But some of the experts insist on blaming the participants in the events, instead of themselves, when things don't work out as they predicted. A few go so far as to distort the story of an actual event to fit what proves to be their own far-fetched anticipation of it.

So we get some pretty tortured versions of current history these days. Why?

Certainly it never was easy to foretell activities in the realm of practical affairs. There is no accurate barometer for human behavior. But over the decades some pretty sound guesses were made of what was to come.

Nowadays the confusion of affairs has vastly complicated the task of predicting. That very complexity is the prime excuse for error by the experts. They can cover only so much ground themselves, and thereafter are dependent upon the findings of others.

But the difficulties of digging for even that part of the facts which one man can fairly unearth have tended to discourage too many. A lot of them have therefore become little more than collectors of surface impressions, and rather jaded collectors at that. When they supplement these with the surface gleanings of others, they erect a shaky pyramid that can topple at the first real breath of reality.

There is no cure for this condition but hard work. Because the world is harder to understand does not mean we can abandon the project. The manpower and the facilities for grappling with this task in America are unexampled.

Instead of talking events to death before they occur, our experts ought to spend their time scanning thoroughly the groundwork for those events—talking to all the people they can, reviewing past history where it has a bearing, getting and keeping the feel of the country where the events will be made. This sounds simple enough, but it's become a rather uncommon practice.

Less talk and more action on the observers' front wouldn't eliminate forecasting errors. But it might make the surprises less frequent.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT!

Strange news comes out of Switzerland. The government had established a television station for free use by set owners. Now they find that so little interest is taken in TV that they plan to abandon the service.

We often hear of the great gap in thinking that separates the United States from Russia. This is as nothing, however, compared with this newly discovered fundamental difference between America and Switzerland.

WHO PROTECTS LEFTISTS?

During the Tydings Committee investigation into subversives and how they manage to get into critical places where they can affect, if not dominate, the day-by-day handling of our foreign policy, particularly the expenditure of our money, curious things happened. Some of them looked as though Senator Tydings himself were doing some protecting and that is why he was defeated for re-election in Maryland.

One case is that of Theodore Geiger, once an employe of the State Department and subsequently an important assistant to Paul G. Hoffman at the ECA. Counsel for the Republican members of the Tydings Committee, Robert Morris, stated to the committee:

"There is a case of a man named Theodore Geiger. He has been an employe of the State Department. He is now one of Paul Hoffman's top assistants. He is doing work that is quasi-State Department in character. I have [illegible] witnesses together who will testify that he was a member of the same Communist Party unit as they were, and I think we would be delinquent if in the face of this evidence that is now on record. . . ."

To this, Tydings replied:

"Turn it over to the FBI or do something else with it. . . . We don't want to waste this afternoon."

In spite of this colloquy and with no further investigation, Geiger remained in a high position in Paul G. Hoffman's organization. However, the McCarran Committee revived the inquiry. The subject for consideration was the Communist cell at Columbia University. The following is pertinent to Theodore Geiger, Paul Hoffman's assistant:

"Senator Ferguson. . . . Do you know any other Communist in your cells or that you knew up in these colleges that came down in the government, the United States Government?

"(William Martin) Canning. There was one other who belonged to the same Columbia University unit, Theodore Geiger.

"Senator Ferguson. Was he a Communist?

"Mr. Canning. Yes, he was. . . .

"Senator Ferguson. Where did you know him?

"Mr. Canning. I knew him both at City College where he was a student, and later at Columbia University where he continued his graduate studies.

"Senator Ferguson. About when did he leave there? . . .

"Mr. Canning. I think he finished at City College, he received his bachelor's degree in 1935.

"Senator Ferguson. Where did he come in the Government?

"Mr. Canning. Into the Economic Cooperation Administration.

"Senator Ferguson. Do you know whether he is in Government now?

"Mr. Canning. No. I have been informed that he has resigned.

"Senator Ferguson. When?

"Mr. Canning. Not a very long time ago, several months ago. . . .

"Senator Ferguson. What was his position in Government?

"Mr. Canning. He was, I believe, Deputy Administrator to the ECA, though I am not certain of his exact title.

"Senator Ferguson. That is the same man that you knew in Columbia as a Communist?

"Mr. Canning. Yes, sir.

"Senator Ferguson. Was he active in Communism?

"Mr. Canning. He was.

Senator Ferguson. As active as you and Finkelstein?

"Mr. Canning. Not quite as active as Finkelstein, but perhaps as active as I was."

There is one other reference to Theodore Geiger in the McCarran Committee testimony. Moses Finley is being examined. He says that he is a teacher at Rutgers University and that he is operating under a grant from the Ford Foundation of which Paul G. Hoffman is now the head. To avoid confusion, it must be noted that Moses Finley is the Finkelstein referred to above in the Canning testimony. He had altered his name. This is the testimony concerning Geiger:

"Mr. Morris. Did you ever meet Mr. Theodore Geiger?

"Mr. Finley. Yes.

"Mr. Morris. Did Mr. Geiger ever attend a meeting at your home?

"Mr. Finley. Yes.

"Senator Watkins. Do you know any Communists?

"Mr. Finley. I must decline to answer on the grounds previously stated."

I do not know what Theodore Geiger is doing today or where he is. It is curious, however, that Paul G. Hoffman, who is now a big-shot Republican politician and who has about $25,000,000 of Henry Ford's money to spend each year, should select assistants after attention had been called to Communist affiliations. Also, the elder Henry Ford surely never intended that his money be employed to support persons who will not testify fully before a Congressional committee.

That Body of Yours

SILENT GALLSTONES

An elderly man began to feel a pain across the abdomen in the region of stomach and immediately thought he had an ulcer or cancer, as one brother had died of cancer of the stomach and the other from perforation of an ulcer in the stomach. X-rays of stomach and intestine showed no ulcer or cancer present but a later X-ray examination showed many stones in the gall bladder. As he had had one or two attacks of gall-bladder colic during the previous twenty years, his physician referred him to a surgeon.

The man was 75 years of age and had no symptoms except an occasional dull pain across the abdomen. The surgeon, therefore, felt he might have no further trouble and advised against operation at present. The patient was advised to consult his physician if further symptoms developed, however.

It is believed that at least 40 to 50 per cent of men and women past 40 to 50 years of age have gallstones, but perhaps only a small percentage of them ever have any disturbance from them and need no treatment except to eat smaller meals and less fat if any disturbance occurs.

In the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. B. O. C. Pribram, of the surgical staff of St. Clare's Hospital, New York city, discusses silent and severe or painful gallstones and whether or not these silent gallstones should undergo operation to forestall any operation at some future time under unfavorable conditions.

Dr. Pribram reports an experiment in which, through an existing opening from gall bladder to outer surface of the body, a probe was inserted into gall bladder and a part of the lining scraped to cause irritation, yet patient felt no pain. However, when neck (duct) of gall bladder through which the gall (bile) empties into a neighboring duct, was scraped, severe pain occurred, as with the passing of a gallstone. From this we learn that a gallstone located in the body of the gall bladder (the silent area) causes no pain but if it moves to the duct or neck of gall bladder, pain (colic) may occur.

We also learn that lining of the gall bladder distant from the duct or neck is a silent and insensitive zone or area and that stones may lie there "indefinitely" without causing any symptoms. Should the gallstone shift to neck of gall bladder, it may even then cause no symptoms but, if symptoms are severe, operation may be necessary.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A paper bag of rabbit food is on my desk . . . a broken slingshot, a book called "Trigger" (Roy Rogers' horse) . . . a pair of swimming trunks is on a chair . . . still damp . . . a pair of dirty shoes, very small shoes, are under the couch . . . my room is a shambles, littered with remnants of my vacation—reminders of a small boy who spent the vacation with me.

He is a small boy who isn't interested in Eisenhower or Stevenson . . . who doesn't know the nation is about to hold an election, who has no idea that this election could shape the destiny of the world, perhaps decide whether some day he himself will march off to war.

This small boy had the faculty of making his grandfather feel both very young and very old. His energy was inexhaustible, his questions endless, their scope limitless. . . . "Why do mosquitoes make you itch, grandfather?" . . . "Who teaches little calves how to get milk from their mothers?" . . . "Can eagles fly away with little boys? . . . Can hawks? . . . Can buzzards?" . . . "Why do pigeons always eat your alfalfa seed and not other people's, Grandpa?" . . . "Why does Harry Truman (our bull) always break down so many fences?" . . . I have had hundreds of questions fired at me in public forums or by irate readers, but none so difficult to answer — though so pleasant.

Pleasant Exhaustion

It has been said that if a college athlete attempted to follow the exact antics of a two-year-old in crawling, walking, running for one full day, he would be exhausted.

My grandson is five, not two; and I am no college athlete. But I can attest that the above theory must be approximately correct. For never have I had so much exercise; never at the end of a vacation have I been so exhausted—so in need of the comparative peace of the political arena where one merely badgers politicians and is called names by Presidents.

Nevertheless, I would not have exchanged this two weeks for a dozen trips to the Adirondacks, Maine or Alaska.

My daughter will never forgive me for spoiling him, and when she sees the way the barber sheared his locks while I wasn't looking, I'm afraid she'll never let me come again.

I had intended coming back to the columning business with a reverberating scoop on world affairs. But the truth is I have scarcely looked at a newspaper. My typewriter is unopened; my bulging brief case untouched.

Far Removed From Corruption

So before I get back to the grind of being the tough, hard-boiled poker under the political rocks looking for the worms of corruption, I hope I may be forgiven if I say just a word about life with a young man who has scarcely heard the word corruption and who aside from "influencing" himself out of taking a bath at night wouldn't know what the word means.

For if you ever want to relive your youth. . . . If you ever dream of the birds' nests you used to find, the trees you used to climb, the garter snakes you used to catch and take to Sunday school to scare little girls. . . . The frog's legs you used to fry in a skillet out of doors. . . . The streams you used to dam up to make a waist-high swimming hole. . . . The giant hay-loads you used to ride, setting way-up so high you got scratched by the branches as you came up the lane to the barn. . . . Or the baby rabbit you used to catch after the mowing machine had uncovered their nest in the hayfield. . . .

If you have, and want to recapture your youth, then just take your grandson out on a farm for two weeks and all those memories will come crowding back, more vivid than ever. And you'll be so tired at night, you won't lie awake thinking about the problems of the world.

Beside the Potomac

My two weeks were spent on a farm on the banks of the Potomac where the stone forts of the Union Army once looked across at the Johnny Rebs on the other side in Virginia.

The sharpened trees that were pointed down the hill toward the river to keep the Johnny Rebs from crossing are gone now; but some of the stone ramparts still remain. And sitting near them in the moonlight on those nights when I was not too exhausted even to sit, I could almost see the ghosts of men maneuvering for position in the shadow of the oak trees in that bloody, futile war 90 years ago.

The Potomac still flows on serenely in the moonlight. The fish jump in the moonlight. And if you toss a pebble from the cliff alongside our farm, its ripples spread out in the moonlight as if no blood had ever stained its waters—as if no war or fear of future war ever ruffled its surface on the way past Washington, past the White House to the sea.

I do not know how many sons and grandsons have marched forth to war as a result of decisions made on the banks of the Potomac. I cannot predict how many more may march in the future. I only know—as I am left with strict instructions on how to feed two rabbits—that we of the present generation have a greater obligation than perhaps we realize.

And if we can instill among our fellow men some of the love and faith of our grandchildren; if we can banish hate, deception, fear; if we can truly remember the teaching "a little child shall lead them;" then the wars that have been fought along the Potomac and elsewhere some day may be no more.

"We are in that war because, having helped set up the Korean Republic, and knowing that strength was being massed against that republic north of its borders, there was a failure to build up adequate strength in Korea's own defense forces.

"We are in that war because this Administration abandoned China to the Communists.

"We are in that war because this Administration announced to all the world that it had written off most of the Far East as beyond our direct concern."

This indictment can be documented from the record of what the secretary of state said and what pro-Communist advisers told the State Department to do in abandoning China. The Senate Internal Security Committee, in its recent report, unanimously approved by Republicans and Democrats, tells in detail how China was abandoned.

By talking up bluntly about the Korean War, the general has touched on a delicate issue in America today. The war has caused more than 110,000 casualties for America alone, and has brought a draft law that is drawing from 30,000 to 50,000 boys into the armed services every month. Along with it has come disturbed economic conditions in the country generally.

The general did not discuss the actual operation of the Korean War by our commanders, hamstrung, as they have been, by the State Department, which has not asserted itself in the councils of the United Nations with sufficient leadership to win world-wide support for the cause. He did, however, call for support of the UN itself and at the same time urged that, as a step toward peace, besides military preparation, America "make imaginative and practical use of every other means of preventing war." On this phase he is hitting directly at the blundering job in world propaganda done by the State Department, which has consistently refused to let this activity become a separate operation, preferring to keep it as a subordinate and insignificant bureau in a huge department run by pussyfot policies.

The most important point that the general made was his demand for clarity and consistency in foreign policy. He rejects the Truman-Acheson foreign policy as having dragged the nation into war and as having encouraged the Communistic regime in Moscow. He says a new administration under his leadership "will move toward peace by setting before us clear and positive goals." He adds:

"Must we go on with patchwork, crazy quilt operations? Must we go on with one policy for Europe, a feeble policy for South America, little policy for the Middle East, and changing policies for Asia? Must we go on writing off the Far East at one moment and at almost the next finding our sons fighting and dying in Korea? Must we at one time woo the Soviets as though they could be trusted, and then fall into hysterical fear of them?"

The demand for "clear and positive goals" is a simple but compact statement of what has been lacking and what must be supplied if American leadership is to be restored in the world—if the Communist imperialists in Moscow are to have respect for the spoken words and acts of the United States.

This was more than a campaign speech that Gen. Eisenhower made at Philadelphia—it was an address of world-wide importance which will displease Moscow but will hearten the free world.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I note with skepticism that Noel Busch writes in his biography of Adlai Stevenson that, although Stevenson spent two years at Harvard Law School, he never met Felix Frankfurter, the patron of the cult which was created by stealth in our government, including in its membership three of the worst Reds in the entire Communist "apparatus" as Whittaker Chambers called it. The three that I have in mind are Alger Hiss, of course, and Lee Pressman and Nathan Witt.

I don't believe this statement and I do believe it was concocted to dissociate Stevenson from Frankfurter for campaign purposes. I knew Busch as a frivolous, blase Princeton slummer in the sportwriting business in the era of wonderful nonsense. Thereafter he spent a long time with the mysterious China-Boy Luce propaganda machine whose product always should be searched for ulterior motives. However, I assume that Busch is honest and is merely telling us what Stevenson told him because Stevenson wants us to believe it.

Frankfurter is not a modest Frankfurter is expressed in a monosyllable that has no place in a family newspaper. Frankfurter is devious and cunning as Harold Ickes proved when he wrote that Felix admitted that it was he who planted the plaint, puzzled old Republican derelict Henry L. Stimson in Roosevelt's cabinet as secretary of war.

Altogether, Frankfurter was not such a character as Stevenson would have been likely not to meet in two years at Harvard Law and I believe they did meet. I add up some known facts to arrive at the opinion that Stevenson's reason for berating those who expose Reds and fellow-travelers is that he spent several years in the thick of them in Washington and knows that a degree of suspicion falls on him. I wouldn't think of calling him a Communist but if a fellow-traveler is one who can run with Communists day after day for years, work with them and carry on social relations with them without suspecting them, then that goes for Adlai Stevenson. It is up to us to decide for ourselves whether this double-dome of the New Deal Socialist machine, with the Harvard gullah grafted onto his cornbelt accent, and the superior brain which is said to qualify him for the presidency of our socialist reman. He is pushful and arrogant and at least one of his brethren on the Supreme Court has barely restrained himself from busting him right on the snoot in open court. I think you could guess that this would be Justice Bill Douglas, whose opinion of public was too dumb to detect the obvious. I think he was too smart. But if he was that dumb he certainly is too dumb to be president of my country.

The fact that Stevenson says nothing about his two-year term of study at Harvard Law in his biography in Who's Who is another suspicious circumstance. It is very extraordinary that this lawyer refrained from mentioning in his biography the fact that he spent two years as a resident student at a school which is, for all the notoriety which has soiled its name in recent years, nevertheless regarded as one of the best. If Stevenson had been kicked out for some disgraceful act, that might explain it but I understand that he departed with honor, so that possibility fails.

I note also that Stevenson reported in the 1945 edition of Who's Who that he was a member of the Institute of Pacific Relations, but dropped that item later and never put it back. The evil reputation of the IPR is too voluminous to permit even a review here and if Stevenson told me he got out of it or quit listing his membership for insignificant reasons I wouldn't take him at his word there, either.

He was a trustee of the World Citizens Association in 1945 and dropped that entry too. And he was a trustee of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation while Alger Hiss also was a trustee and knew him so well and favorably that he swore to Hiss's reputation for his trial.

Altogether, the facts justify a belief that his outcry against the smearing of "innocent" persons by the likes of Joe McCarthy and Pat McCarran is a cry of apprehension, not indignation.

Last fall, Louis Bromfield wrote a bellow along the same line and I noted that he had built up a multiple record of associations, himself, which invited the sort of attention that he deplored as un-American. During the political conventions I said I would have asked him to write a piece in reply except that he was a high-priced professional and therefore an invitation to him would be misconstrued. I tried to crank him up but Louis said he didn't want to pursue the subject. We parted on good terms but Bromfield is not running for president. He can be as silly and naive as he likes and he doesn't measurably hurt the United States, although he might give aid and comfort to traitors operating pro-Communist fronts. But Stevenson wants to be president and we have to be more exacting.

I can't understand how people who boast of their education and brains can plead that they didn't know. It doesn't take intelligence. Your nose knows.

Hurricane at Sea

Miami, Fla., Sept. 5 (AP)—A severe Atlantic hurricane sped northward in the open sea today, offering no threat to any land areas. This second hurricane of the season was expected to pass between the North Carolina coast and Bermuda, too far from either area to cause any damage.

Liberals Refuse Cashmore Name

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Liberal party has refused to give its nomination to Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator from New York.

The Liberals could hold the balance of power in a close race between Cashmore and Republican Senator Irving M. Ives at the Nov. 4 election.

Alex Rose, a Liberal state vice-chairman, explained the policy committee's action this way:

"We do not think that Mr. Cashmore can arouse and unite the indenpendents and Liberals in this state in behalf of the national candidacies of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman."

The Liberal party, organized only in New York state, has its greatest strength in New York city. It often nominates Democratic candidates, sometimes Republicans, and at other times runs its own candidates.

Have Own Senate Choice

The Liberals recently endorsed the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket, but named one of their state vice-chairman, George S. Counts, a professor at Columbia University Teachers College, as their Senate choice.

Counts was to decide today whether he wishes to continue as a candidate or will step aside for a substitute.

Among those under consideration by party leaders as a substitute are city council president, Rudolph Halley, former chief counsel of the New York Post. Halley was elected council president with Liberal party support.

Liberal party leaders had favored Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman for the Democratic and Liberal party senate nominations. But Harriman refused to run, despite the fact he also had considerable support in Democratic ranks.

Liberal party leaders predict their followers will cast from 400,000 to 500,000 votes for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket on Nov. 4. In 1948, the Liberals polled 222,562 votes for the Democratic national ticket.

Throws His Weight Behind Cashmore

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Michael J. Quill, boss of the New York city CIO and National CIO vice-president, has thrown his weight in favor of state CIO endorsement for John Cashmore, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator.

And after Quill's arrival on the scene of the state's CIO's 13th Annual Convention last night, the organization's state head said the Brooklyn borough president may get CIO endorsement after all.

Louis Hollander hastened to add, however:

"Quill's position has nothing to do with it at all."

Before Quill flew into Buffalo last night—a day sooner than he had planned to join the delegates—Hollander had indicated that Cashmore would not get the backing of the CIO.

Incumbent Irving M. Ives is the GOP candidate.

Besides heading New York City's CIO Council, Quill is boss of the city's transport workers. About 500,000 of the state organization's million members are in New York city.

It was evident that Quill's control of this group gave weight to his support of Cashmore endorsement.

Strength also was added by Quill's statement last night that he was certain the New York City CIO Council would endorse Cashmore regardless of the action of the state convention.

Sun Valley of East Scheduled for New York

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—A New York city syndicate says it has purchased a 16,500-acre tract in the Adirondack Mountains, and will make it a "Sun Valley of the East."

Broker Irving Kleine of Lawrence, L. I., announced last night that the price exceeded $500,000.

Known as "John Brown's tract," the property surrounds the villages of Old Forge and Thendara in Herkimer county.

The tract was purchased from the estate of Lyon de Camp, lumberman and real estate operator who died in 1945.

Klein said his clients, whom he did not identify, planned a luxury hotel on Nicks Lake to accomodate 500 guests. Other plans call for an 18-hole golf course, swimming pools and summer and winter sports facilities.

Alleged Addict Accused Of Stealing From Family

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—An anguished Bronx father says his 26-year-old son has been stealing from his own family the past 10 years to buy narcotics.

The son, Murray Bellis, was booked last night on a grand larceny charge. He was arrested after his father, Isadore Bellis, told police the son stole $485 in cash as well as clothing and jewelry from the parents.

Police said the younger Bellis became a narcotics user when he was 16, and and that in 1949 he spent—in six months—a $10,000 legacy from a grandfather.

Authorities said the son used one-sixteenth of an ounce of heroin daily, making him "one of the heaviest users" of narcotics known to them.

Mail Carriers March

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Some 3,000 marching mail men won a Fifth avenue crowd's stamp of approval yesterday as they celebrated the 38th biennial convention of the AFL National Association of Letter Carriers. A 33-block parade was enlivened with floats, bands and banners. One of the latter, featuring a revolving world, advised: "You Write. We'll deliver."

Skin russeting ordinarily does not affect apple quality. But what is important in buying apples is to choose varieties that have the flavor and texture you enjoy.

Will Test Camera Legality

Scarsdale, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Westchester county parkway police will seek a court test of the legality of their radar camera which checks on speeders. A motorist who exceeded the 40-mile-an-hour speed limit on Hutchinson River Parkway here yesterday was clocked by the camera which automatically photographed his car and license plate. The photographic record of the speeding car, a local innovation in the rules of evidence, will be turned over to magistrates' court for a legal test. Police said 300 cars were clocked yesterday, and more than half exceeded the speed limit. But only one was picked for the court test. The identify of the driver won't be revealed until the case comes up.

Hurricane at Sea

Miami, Fla., Sept. 5 (AP)—A severe Atlantic hurricane sped northward in the open sea today, offering no threat to any land areas. This second hurricane of the season was expected to pass between the North Carolina coast and Bermuda, too far from either area to cause any damage.

Liberals Refuse Cashmore Name

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Liberal party has refused to give its nomination to Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore, Democratic candidate for U. S. senator from New York.

The Liberals could hold the balance of power in a close race between Cashmore and Republican Senator Irving M. Ives at the Nov. 4 election.

Alex Rose, a Liberal state vice-chairman, explained the policy committee's action this way:

"We do not think that Mr. Cashmore can arouse and unite the indenpendents and Liberals in this state in behalf of the national candidacies of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. John J. Sparkman."

The Liberal party, organized only in New York state, has its greatest strength in New York city. It often nominates Democratic candidates, sometimes Republicans, and at other times runs its own candidates.

Have Own Senate Choice

The Liberals recently endorsed the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket, but named one of their state vice-chairman, George S. Counts, a professor at Columbia University Teachers College, as their Senate choice.

Counts was to decide today whether he wishes to continue as a candidate or will step aside for a substitute.

Among those under consideration by party leaders as a substitute are city council president, Rudolph Halley, former chief counsel of the New York Post. Halley was elected council president with Liberal party support.

Liberal party leaders had favored Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman for the Democratic and Liberal party senate nominations. But Harriman refused to run, despite the fact he also had considerable support in Democratic ranks.

Liberal party leaders predict their followers will cast from 400,000 to 500,000 votes for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket on Nov. 4. In 1948, the Liberals polled 222,562 votes for the Democratic national ticket.

Throws His Weight Behind Cashmore

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Michael J. Quill, boss of the New York city CIO and National CIO vice-president, has thrown his weight in favor of state CIO endorsement for John Cashmore, Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator.

And after Quill's arrival on the scene of the state's CIO's 13th Annual Convention last night, the organization's state head said the Brooklyn borough president may get CIO endorsement after all.

Louis Hollander hastened to add, however:

"Quill's position has nothing to do with it at all."

Before Quill flew into Buffalo last night—a day sooner than he had planned to join the delegates—Hollander had indicated that Cashmore would not get the backing of the CIO.

Incumbent Irving M. Ives is the GOP candidate.

Besides heading New York City's CIO Council, Quill is boss of the city's transport workers. About 500,000 of the state organization's million members are in New York city.

It was evident that Quill's control of this group gave weight to his support of Cashmore endorsement.

Strength also was added by Quill's statement last night that he was certain the New York City CIO Council would endorse Cashmore regardless of the action of the state convention.

Sun Valley of East Scheduled for New York

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—A New York city syndicate says it has purchased a 16,500-acre tract in the Adirondack Mountains, and will make it a "Sun Valley of the East."

Broker Irving Kleine of Lawrence, L. I., announced last night that the price exceeded $500,000.

Known as "John Brown's tract," the property surrounds the villages of Old Forge and Thendara in Herkimer county.

The tract was purchased from the estate of Lyon de Camp, lumberman and real estate operator who died in 1945.

Klein said his clients, whom he did not identify, planned a luxury hotel on Nicks Lake to accomodate 500 guests. Other plans call for an 18-hole golf course, swimming pools and summer and winter sports facilities.

Alleged Addict Accused Of Stealing From Family

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—An anguished Bronx father says his 26-year-old son has been stealing from his own family the past 10 years to buy narcotics.

The son, Murray Bellis, was booked last night on a grand larceny charge. He was arrested after his father, Isadore Bellis, told police the son stole $485 in cash as well as clothing and jewelry from the parents.

Police said the younger Bellis became a narcotics user when he was 16, and and that in 1949 he spent—in six months—a $10,000 legacy from a grandfather.

Authorities said the son used one-sixteenth of an ounce of heroin daily, making him "one of the heaviest users" of narcotics known to them.

Mail Carriers March

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Some 3,000 marching mail men won a Fifth avenue crowd's stamp of approval yesterday as they celebrated the 38th biennial convention of the AFL National Association of Letter Carriers. A 33-block parade was enlivened with floats, bands and banners. One of the latter, featuring a revolving world, advised: "You Write. We'll deliver."

The trouble with a lot of people is that they are afraid they will earn more than they are paid.

Skin russeting ordinarily does not affect apple quality. But what is important in buying apples is to choose varieties that have the flavor and texture you enjoy.

Will Test Camera Legality

Scarsdale, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Westchester county parkway police will seek a court test of the legality of their radar camera which checks on speeders. A motorist who exceeded the 40-mile-an-hour speed limit on Hutchinson River Parkway here yesterday was clocked by the camera which automatically photographed his car and license plate. The photographic record of the speeding car, a local innovation in the rules of evidence, will be turned over to magistrates' court for a legal test. Police said 300 cars were clocked yesterday, and more than half exceeded the speed limit. But only one was picked for the court test. The identify of the driver won't be revealed until the case comes up.

Quinine, one of the most important drugs known to man because it is a specific cure and preventive for several types of malaria, is obtained from the dried bark of an evergreen tree native to South America. Before the arrival of the Spanish conquerors the natives in the Andes knew that drinking a brew made of the bark of this tree warded off chills and fevers. The Incas called it quina-quina, "bark-bark", because in the Quechua language, as in many others, repetition of a noun indicated that the object described possessed peculiar virtues.

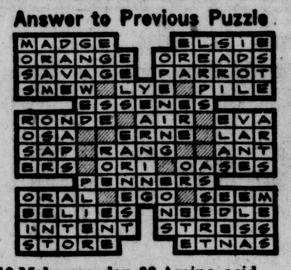
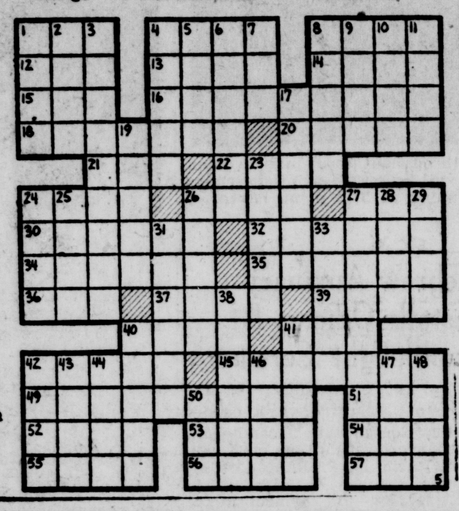
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Blondes Fare Poorly

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—Blondes may be whistle-bait in some quarters but so far none has lured a point in talent and swim suit preliminaries for the Miss America crown. All of the five lovelies who have garnered precious points in two night's of competition in the two divisions are brunettes of one shade or other. Tonight will see the last of the preliminaries before final judging tomorrow night.

Socialite Found Dead

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Marie Kellogg, 79, listed in the social register as Mrs. Morris W. Kellogg, was found dead in bed last night at her Fifth avenue home. Police said the woman apparently had taken an overdose of sleeping pills. Her body was found by a nurse. A daughter, the former Beatrice Kellogg, is married to social registerite Harvey C. McClintock. The McClintocks reside in Glen Head.

R. K. Benware Dies

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Rex Keith Benware, 60, formerly announcer for the New York Times' radio station WQXR, died early today at his home. Benware had been active in Christian Science endeavors for a long time. He maintained a Rockefeller Plaza office in connection with his Christian Science work.

Macfadden Is Home

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Bernarr Macfadden, publisher and physical culturist, who celebrated his 84th birthday last week with a parachute jump near the Seine river in Paris, arrived home today by plane.

Kreisler Tax Cut

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Fritz Kreisler, world-famed violin virtuoso, and his wife settled tax claims amounting to $1,384,513 in 1944 for $395,000, the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclosed today. The bureau quoted the Vienna-born violinist as saying he had no intention of defrauding the government, but became involved in the case through innocent error, bad advice, and his own complicated affairs. Officials said the compromise was accepted because of the age of the case, the complex nature of the government's proof, Kreisler's stock market losses, and deductions he was entitled to but had not listed.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 5—As this is Labor Day week it is fitting to write about "jobs." This year jobs are plentiful for all who are willing to work. This, however, may not be true in 1953.

This year it has been easy to get a job for three reasons: (1) because of the great military expenditures; (2) because there has been almost no curtailment of "peace consumer goods;" and (3) because the present Democratic Administration is spending all the money it can to keep business prosperous until after Election.

As I have explained before, our country is no longer under the Gold Standard, which prevented Washington from making jobs artificially. We now are under a "Paper Standard," which enables Washington to expand the job balloon until it bursts. This does not mean necessarily that the "bust" will come next year. But I do feel that, whatever party is elected on November 4th—in trying to avoid a bust—will stop inflating the balloon and perhaps gradually let the air out. This would be the safe thing to do; but it might make fewer jobs.

Watch Imports

It may be that through increased advertising and better selling methods consumer demands here at home can be built up to offset the natural decline in war orders. If labor leaders will be reasonable, this can be done. Savings have been increasing and wages continue high.

But what about imports? Every store you enter is now offering foreign-made goods of all kinds. These are being made by people who work 10 to 12 hours a day to keep their families from starvation. You say: "Put on more tariffs to keep out these foreign goods." This is possible; but it would surely force these foreign workers into communism and lead to World War 3.

What Is the Remedy?

The only sane way to prevent such a catastrophe within the next few years would be for our people to work harder and longer hours without now asking for more wage increases. This would reduce the prices of goods made in this country. If costs and prices here can be reduced, then our people will have enough money to buy both the goods made in the U.S.A. and also the foreign goods.

If you now have a job, make the best of it. Be the first to arrive every morning; and the last to leave at night. Subscribe to the Trade Magazine of the industry in which you are employed. Take a correspondence course to become more efficient. Be loyal to and speak well of your employer. He has more troubles than you have. He has the job of selling the goods or services which you are helping to make or render. His job will be especially hard in 1953.

What About Labor Unions?

Labor unions are here to stay, especially in large cities. Where big business exists, we must expect big unions to follow. This means steel strikes, coal strikes and textile strikes will continue. In these large cities where employes are more impersonal reasonable labor unions and collective bargaining are convenient and serve as a protection to both wageworkers and employers.

There, however, is no excuse for labor unions in small cities where all know one another. Labor unions are unnecessary where an employer knows all his wageworkers by name and is acquainted with their hopes and troubles. Moral for manufacturers: Don't allow your plant to get too big. Don't try to be the richest man in the cemetery!

HIGHLAND

Mrs. Robert Anderson and son, Schenectady, are spending several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edison Dimsey.

The opening meeting of Vineyard Rebekah lodge will be Thursday, Sept. 11.

The birthday of a member of the UD Society was celebrated Saturday afternoon by a candlelighted cake in which those present shared. The usual round robin letter was sent to Miss Laura Harcourt, still a patient in Kingston Hospital. A communication was received from Lloyd Post, American Legion relative to the annual Halloween party on which no action was taken. Attending were the hostess, Mrs. Fred Lewis Vail, the Misses Belle Brinckerhoff, Rowena Harcourt, Eliza Raymond, Mrs. Elsie Randall who presided, Mrs. Rose Seaman, Mrs. Abram Rhodes, Mrs. W. B. Taber, Mrs. D. H. Starr, Mrs. A. J. Pratt, Mrs. George DuBois, Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. Joseph Mellor, Mrs. Abram Rhodes and two guests, Mrs. O. J. Tillson and Mrs. Dora R. Haight.

Mrs. Herbert Greenland, New York, was a guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. DuBois. The Rev. Mr. Greenland was a former pastor of the Methodist Church.

Will Hold 'School'

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—A "candidates' School" to advise Democratic office seekers how to win votes this fall will be sent on tour by the New York State Democratic Commitee. Starting Monday, a series of meetings will be held in every county for benefit of state legislative and congressional candidates, the committee announced last night.

Portuguese General Dies

Lisbon, Portugal, Sept. 5 (AP)—General Jose Vicente de Freitas, 83, who served as premier in 1929 under a military dictatorship then ruling Portugal, died today.

Will Hold Maneuvers

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Tens of thousands of soldiers will battle the elements in earnest and each other in simulation next winter in the army's second consecutive Operation Snowstorm at Camp Drum. They will conduct cross-country maneuvers in bitter weather and hold atomic defense and airborne operations. In the car, the Tactical Air Command will also hold maneuvers. The operation will be directed by Lt. Gen. Willis D. Crittenberger, First Army commanding general. The deputy director will be Maj. Gen. Charles D. W. Canham, commanding general of the 82nd Airborne.

Blondes Fare Poorly

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—Blondes may be whistle-bait in some quarters but so far none has lured a point in talent and swim suit preliminaries for the Miss America crown. All of the five lovelies who have garnered precious points in two night's of competition in the two divisions are brunettes of one shade or other. Tonight will see the last of the preliminaries before final judging tomorrow night.

R. K. Benware Dies

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — Rex Keith Benware, 60, formerly announcer for the New York Times' radio station WQXR, died early today at his home. Kreisler Tax Cut

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Fritz Kreisler, world-famed violin virtuoso, and his wife settled tax claims amounting to $1,384,513 in 1944 for $395,000, the Bureau of Internal Revenue disclosed today. The bureau quoted the Vienna-born violinist as saying he had no intention of defrauding the government, but became involved in the case through innocent error, bad advice, and his own complicated affairs. Officials said the compromise was accepted because of the age of the case, the complex nature of the government's proof, Kreisler's stock market losses, and deductions he was entitled to but had not listed.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 5—As this is Labor Day week it is fitting to write about "jobs." This year jobs are plentiful for all who are willing to work. This, however, may not be true in 1953.

This year it has been easy to get a job for three reasons: (1) because of the great military expenditures; (2) because there has been almost no curtailment of "peace consumer goods;" and (3) because the present Democratic Administration is spending all the money it can to keep business prosperous until after Election.

As I have explained before, our country is no longer under the Gold Standard, which prevented Washington from making jobs artificially. We now are under a "Paper Standard," which enables Washington to expand the job balloon until it bursts. This does not mean necessarily that the "bust" will come next year. But I do feel that, whatever party is elected on November 4th—in trying to avoid a bust—will stop inflating the balloon and perhaps gradually let the air out. This would be the safe thing to do; but it might make fewer jobs.

Watch Imports

It may be that through increased advertising and better selling methods consumer demands here at home can be built up to offset the natural decline in war orders. If labor leaders will be reasonable, this can be done. Savings have been increasing and wages continue high.

But what about imports? Every store you enter is now offering foreign-made goods of all kinds. These are being made by people who work 10 to 12 hours a day to keep their families from starvation. You say: "Put on more tariffs to keep out these foreign goods." This is possible; but it would surely force these foreign workers into communism and lead to World War 3.

What Is the Remedy?

The only sane way to prevent such a catastrophe within the next few years would be for our people to work harder and longer hours without now asking for more wage increases. This would reduce the prices of goods made in this country. If costs and prices here can be reduced, then our people will have enough money to buy both the goods made in the U.S.A. and also the foreign goods.

If you now have a job, make the best of it. Be the first to arrive every morning; and the last to leave at night. Subscribe to the Trade Magazine of the industry in which you are employed. Take a correspondence course to become more efficient. Be loyal to and speak well of your employer. He has more troubles than you have. He has the job of selling the goods or services which you are helping to make or render. His job will be especially hard in 1953.

What About Labor Unions?

Labor unions are here to stay, especially in large cities. Where big business exists, we must expect big unions to follow. This means steel strikes, coal strikes and textile strikes will continue. In these large cities where employes are more impersonal reasonable labor unions and collective bargaining are convenient and serve as a protection to both wageworkers and employers.

There, however, is no excuse for labor unions in small cities where all know one another. Labor unions are unnecessary where an employer knows all his wageworkers by name and is acquainted with their hopes and troubles. Moral for manufacturers: Don't allow your plant to get too big. Don't try to be the richest man in the cemetery!

Married in St. James Methodist Church

MRS. RICHARD AUSTIN WHITE

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Riseley was married in St. James Church on Saturday, Aug. 30. (Reynolds photo)

Miss Joan Riseley Becomes Bride of Richard Austin White

The marriage of Miss Joan H. Riseley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Riseley, 3rd, 199 Wall street, to Richard Austin White, U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald White Sr., 44 West O'Reilly street, took place at four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 30, in St. James Methodist Church. The Rev. Dr. Ralph Houston, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 50 guests was held at Nieuw Dorp, Hurley.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, palms, and candelabra. Traditional wedding music selections were played by Franklin Pierce, organist, who also accompanied the soloist, LeRoy Davis.

Escored by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of imported lace and nylon tulle over white satin, styled with a fitted basque jacket and plaited tulle skirt. Her chapel length silk illusion veil was attached to a shell-type headpiece of matching lace and satin. She carried a bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Mrs. Arthur Hansen of West Hurley was the matron of honor. She was attired in a ballerina length gown of honey colored nylon tulle and satin fashioned with a draped bodice and bouffant skirt. A tulle stole and a scroll type headpiece of matching flowers completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of matching colored gladioli.

The flower girls, cousins of the bride, were Diane Pschorr, Tatamy, Pa., and Geraldine Coulthart, Greenwich, Conn. They wore seafoam green satin gowns of princess style and carried baskets with rose petals.

Donald E. White, Jr., of Syracuse, brother of the bride, was best man. Gerald Coulthart of Greenwich, Conn., and Arthur Hansen of West Hurley, served as ushers.

The couple left for a trip to Virginia Beach, Va. For traveling, the bride chose a grey suit with dark blue accessories and a corsage of small light blue mums.

Mrs. Austin was graduated from Freeport High School, Freeport, L. I., class of '51. She is employed at Electrol Incorporated.

Mr. Austin was graduated from Waverly High School, class of '49. He attended the Rochester Institute of Technology and upon completion of one year, enlisted in the U. S. Navy. He is now serving aboard the U.S.S. Basilone, stationed in Norfolk, Va.

Onion Rings

French fried onion rings make a delicious accompaniment to hamburgers. Slice large white onions and separate the slices into rings; dip the rings in fritter batter and then drop them into deep hot fat and fry until they're golden brown. Serve piping hot!

Hebrew Auxiliary Installs Officers At Candlelight Ceremony

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Kingston Hebrew School opened its new season with a candlelight ceremony to install its new officers. Rabbi H. J. Rappaport officiated.

Explaining the symbolism of candles, Rabbi Rappaport compared the light and strength of many candles to the strength of an organization having unity and teamwork.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Poor Playing Will Cost You Plenty

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

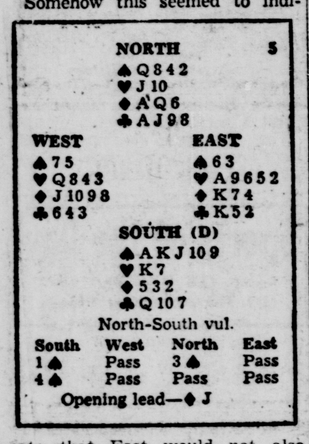
When West led the jack of diamonds in the hand shown today, South had no doubts about the location of the king of diamonds. For one thing, West probably had some sort of leadable holding in hearts, and would have chosen that if his diamonds had been headed by the king.

What's more, West happened to be a gentleman who prided himself on not leading away from kings. (Bridge players are improving, but there are still some of these left.)

Since the diamond finesse was hopeless, declarer put up dummy's ace of diamonds at once, and drew two rounds of trumps. He then tried the club finesse, losing to East's king.

East, very properly, returned the five of hearts, and South went into a huddle with himself. Was East leading from the ace or from the queen? He reasoned that East had already shown up with the king of clubs and almost surely held the king of diamonds.

Somehow this seemed to indicate that East would not also hold the ace of hearts. South thought it was unlikely that all of the high cards would be held by the same opponent.



This reasoning had no basis in either logic or mathematics, and South's play of a low heart cost him the contract. West won with the queen of hearts, and promptly switched back to the ten of diamonds. Now South had lost two diamonds, two hearts, and a club.

South should have put up the king of hearts because it was his only chance to make the contract. If West could win a heart trick, he would return to diamonds, and the defenders would surely take at least one heart, two diamonds, and a club.

Note that if South properly plays the king of hearts, he has no further trouble. He can then get a discard on one of dummy's clubs, thus winning five trumps, three clubs, a diamond, and a heart.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

By EMILY POST
(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

CURFEW FOR SICK HUSBAND

A wife writes: "My husband had a heart attack about six months ago and while he is quite well now, he does have to conserve his strength and get as much rest as possible. Therefore, he tries to get to bed by 9:30 every evening. We have many friends and very often they will drop in of an evening to see us and before we know it, it is my husband's bedtime Would it be rude for him to excuse himself and go to bed or could this be taken as a hint for them to leave?"

It is rather better for you to say to him "John dear" (or whatever you call him) "I'm sorry but it's bed for you!" Then to those who are not familiar with this situation, you explain briefly, "Doctor Brown's orders!" And seriously insist that he go.

Waiting for Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: Six months ago my husband passed away, after having been a complete invalid for practically our entire married life. Recently a close friend of my husband's, who was very devoted to us both, has become attentive to me and has asked me to marry him. There are no children involved, and we have many mutual interests. We both feel we would be very happy together, but wonder what the proper waiting interval should be.

Answer: Not less than six months or two changes of season is the conventional requirement of respect. Summer and autum to winter would mean wedding December first.

Adoption Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: We are planning to adopt a baby soon and would like to know if we may send announcements to our many friends. If you say we may, how should these be worded?

Answer:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones have the happiness to announce the adoption of
Mary Alice
age six weeks

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but many details about the new-born baby such as choosing the godparents, their obligation and the christening ceremony are included in leaflet E-36, "The New Baby." A high Swiss court has refused to prosecute a counterfeiter. For the money-maker did everything above-board and the judge declared that here was an honest counterfeiter.

It is a strange and significant story. With most of the world on a paper money basis—and this condition steadily worsening—the counterfeiter went into the gold bar markets and bought himself a lot of the precious metal.

He had the gold bars melted down and then he proceeded to make English sovereigns and French napoleons—gold coins no longer in circulation with England and France (like America) off the gold standard.

Now the honest part of the counterfeiting was that this money-maker was very diligent in seeing that gold of correct weight and fineness went into the sovereigns and the napoleons. He bought bar gold at Uncle Sam's price of $35 an ounce and, making gold coins in great demand wherever a growing suspicion of paper money is rife, he sold these sovereigns and napoleons at good profits.

These precious gold coins are not recognized in England and France. But in other sections of the world they are—hence the willingness of people to buy them at a premium. Coining honest sovereigns and napoleons like this would be like an American, buying gold from Canadian producers at $35 an ounce, and then coining $5, $10 and $20 gold pieces and selling them for, perhaps, $7.50; $15 and $30 respectively.

The Swiss judge made several observations that many world powers would not like to hear. One was that here was a coin-maker who was doing something honest that governments could and should do. Haven't governments far greater powers than individuals? Sure. So the judge refused to prosecute this technical counterfeiter.

The quality of money in the world is a frequent theme of this column. The standard French franc is one of the weak monies; so is the pound sterling. That is why this ingenious Swiss started coining sovereigns and napoleons. Distrust of economic and fiscal policies in England and France brought about this condition. Bad economics lies behind deteriorating currencies and people, alarmed by weakening shillings and francs, are glad to buy gold coins at premiums.

The situation in America, of course, is far, far better than in England and in France, but even here, it is not healthy. In such times as these, when Uncle Sam's tax collections run around 70 billion dollars a year, it is not a good sign to have a 10 billion dollar budget deficit that must be met with more paper.

Barring a third World War, our national budget should be balanced on our present tax receipts. The price and wage inflation of the country will continue with red figures out of Washington.

Whether General Eisenhower or Governor Stevenson is elected in November, the voters of America who want to see the paper dollar retain and regain some of its integrity should, through their Senators and Congressmen, voice this demand for a balanced budget in 1953.

In the United States we want no funny business paralleling this Swiss sovereign and napoleon counterfeiting. We want no economic trend that would cause millions of our people to wonder about the worth of our paper dollars.

In the meantime, until the dilution of our money stops and a soundly balanced budget is achieved, I would much prefer for my investment funds to buy the engraved paper showing I am a stockholder in the basic enterprises of America, without which our country and Uucle Sam can't function.

Pigs Change to Red

Lockport, Sept. 5 (AP)—Superintendent Peter Jensen of the Wundham Lawn Home for Children says he can't explain why the color of the pigs on the home farm suddenly changed from pink to deep red. But, he added last night, the red shade is suspiciously like the color used by boys of the home when they painted the barn.

Ives Against Postal Plan

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) says Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson is seeking "to strangle a proud and efficient organization" in the proposed reorganization of the Post Office Department. The proposed reorganization of the department would make its head "a veritable czar," Ives contends. Ives, who is running for reelection Nov. 4, expressed his views last night in a speech at a dinner meeting of the New York State Association of Letter Carriers. The dinner followed a Fifth avenue parade by convening members of the AFL National Association of Letter Carriers.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Poor Playing Will Cost You Plenty

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When West led the jack of diamonds in the hand shown today, South had no doubts about the location of the king of diamonds. For one thing, West probably had some sort of leadable holding in hearts, and would have chosen that if his diamonds had been headed by the king.

What's more, West happened to be a gentleman who prided himself on not leading away from kings. (Bridge players are improving, but there are still some of these left.)

Since the diamond finesse was hopeless, declarer put up dummy's ace of diamonds at once, and drew two rounds of trumps. He then tried the club finesse, losing to East's king.

East, very properly, returned the five of hearts, and South went into a huddle with himself. Was East leading from the ace or from the queen? He reasoned that East had already shown up with the king of clubs and almost surely held the king of diamonds.

Somehow this seemed to indicate that East would not also hold the ace of hearts. South thought it was unlikely that all of the high cards would be held by the same opponent.

This reasoning had no basis in either logic or mathematics, and South's play of a low heart cost him the contract. West won with the queen of hearts, and promptly switched back to the ten of diamonds. Now South had lost two diamonds, two hearts, and a club.

South should have put up the king of hearts because it was his only chance to make the contract. If West could win a heart trick, he would return to diamonds, and the defenders would surely take at least one heart, two diamonds, and a club.

Note that if South properly plays the king of hearts, he has no further trouble. He can then get a discard on one of dummy's clubs, thus winning five trumps, three clubs, a diamond, and a heart.

CURFEW FOR SICK HUSBAND

A wife writes: "My husband had a heart attack about six months ago and while he is quite well now, he does have to conserve his strength and get as much rest as possible. Therefore, he tries to get to bed by 9:30 every evening. We have many friends and very often they will drop in of an evening to see us and before we know it, it is my husband's bedtime. Would it be rude for him to excuse himself and go to bed or could this be taken as a hint for them to leave?"

It is rather better for you to say to him "John dear" (or whatever you call him) "I'm sorry but it's bed for you!" Then to those who are not familiar with this situation, you explain briefly, "Doctor Brown's orders!" And seriously insist that he go.

Waiting for Marriage

Dear Mrs. Post: Six months ago my husband passed away, after having been a complete invalid for practically our entire married life. Recently a close friend of my husband's, who was very devoted to us both, has become attentive to me and has asked me to marry him. There are no children involved, and we have many mutual interests. We both feel we would be very happy together, but wonder what the proper waiting interval should be.

Answer: Not less than six months or two changes of season is the conventional requirement of respect. Summer and autum to winter would mean wedding December first.

Adoption Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: We are planning to adopt a baby soon and would like to know if we may send announcements to our many friends. If you say we may, how should these be worded?

Answer:

Mr. and Mrs. John Jones

the adoption of
Mary Alice
age six weeks

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but many details about the new-born baby such as choosing the godparents, their obligation and the christening ceremony are included in leaflet E-36, "The New Baby." That is why this ingenious Swiss started coining sovereigns and napoleons. Distrust of economic and fiscal policies in England and France brought about this condition. Bad economics lies behind deteriorating currencies and people, alarmed by weakening shillings and francs, are glad to buy gold coins at premiums.

The situation in America, of course, is far, far better than in England and in France, but even here, it is not healthy. In such times as these, when Uncle Sam's tax collections run around 70 billion dollars a year, it is not a good sign to have a 10 billion dollar budget deficit that must be met with more paper.

Barring a third World War, our national budget should be balanced on our present tax receipts. The price and wage inflation of the country will continue with red figures out of Washington.

Whether General Eisenhower or Governor Stevenson is elected in November, the voters of America who want to see the paper dollar retain and regain some of its integrity should, through their Senators and Congressmen, voice this demand for a balanced budget in 1953.

In the United States we want no funny business paralleling this Swiss sovereign and napoleon counterfeiting. We want no economic trend that would cause millions of our people to wonder about the worth of our paper dollars.

In the meantime, until the dilution of our money stops and a soundly balanced budget is achieved, I would much prefer for my investment funds to buy the engraved paper showing I am a stockholder in the basic enterprises of America, without which our country and Uucle Sam can't function.

Pigs Change to Red

Lockport, Sept. 5 (AP)—Superintendent Peter Jensen of the Wundham Lawn Home for Children says he can't explain why the color of the pigs on the home farm suddenly changed from pink to deep red. But, he added last night, the red shade is suspiciously like the color used by boys of the home when they painted the barn.

Ives Against Postal Plan

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) says Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson is seeking "to strangle a proud and efficient organization" in the proposed reorganization of the Post Office Department. The proposed reorganization of the department would make its head "a veritable czar," Ives contends. Ives, who is running for reelection Nov. 4, expressed his views last night in a speech at a dinner meeting of the New York State Association of Letter Carriers. The dinner followed a Fifth avenue parade by convening members of the AFL National Association of Letter Carriers.

Elks Nine Grabs Fourth Place For FYL Shaughnessy Playoffs

Turck Blanks Police 8-0 on 2-Hitter

The Elks nine crushed the Police, 8 to 0, behind Tony Turck's two-hit pitching yesterday to grab the fourth slot in the Fraternal Youth League's Shaughnessy playoffs.

The post-season games are scheduled with doubleheaders Saturday and Sunday at Block Park.

A six-run explosion off starter Ernie Madison settled the issue before the spectators had settled themselves in their seats.

Meanwhile, Turck, the ace graduate of the 1951 KAA Little League, restricted the Police to harmless singles by Seymour Semilof and Bob Tellier. He walked four and struck out six.

A brilliant relief chore by Bruce Bechtold went to waste. Coming on in the second inning, Bechtold walked two and struck out 10. The Elks, however, got to him for a couple of runs in the fifth inning for something of a personal triumph over the ace right hander.

Jim Jackson, the Elks third sacker, collected two of the five hits off Madison and Bechtold. The others went to Bob Burns, Jack Redmond and Eric Blackwell.

Big First Inning

Madison quickly loaded the sacks in the first inning when he walked Nick Kearney, hit Bob Burns with a pitch and yielded a single to Jim Jackson. One out and the bases loaded, Madison walked Nerone, forcing in Kearney. Jackson scored after Ron Jansen's fly to Dachenhausen. Turck's walk re-loads the bases. Jack Redmond's single accounted for the third run. Eric Blackwell singled home two more and the sixth marker of the frame resulted from an infield error.

Jansen's walk and an error by Ed Hearst on Turck's grounder sent Jansen across in the fifth and Fibber Davitt squeezed in the final run. The game was called on account of darkness after Cragan fanned for the final out in the fifth.

Turner 9-5 Choice Over Bobby Dykes

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Aggressive Gil Turner is a 9 to 5 favorite to get back on the winning trail tonight when he takes on stiff-punching Bobby Dykes of Miami in a ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Stopped in 11 rounds by welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in his last start in July, the 21-year old Turner has been handed one of the toughest possible foes for his comeback effort.

Dykes, a 22-year-old six-footer with dynamite in either fist, has 42 knockouts to his credit in 90 pro fights. The transplanted Texan was barely nosed out by Gavilan in a title fight in February and has won six in a row since. Like Turner, he has ambitions to fight Gavilan again and he's ready for the fight of his life. The winner figures to share in some rich purses in the near future.

The 9 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast and telecast nationally.

Little League, FYL Playoffs Set

The best-of-three series between the Dodgers and Red Sox for the KAA Little League championship gets under way at 6 p. m. today at the 156th FA diamond.

Southpaw Glenn Newell, the Dodgers hurling ace, will go against Don Kruger, a surprise pitching selection for the Red Sox. There is also a possibility that Charlie Boice, the bellwether of the staff during the second half, may be the last minute choice.

The Dodgers won the first round and the Red Sox copped the second half with identical records of seven wins and two defeats.

Meanwhile, the Shaughnessy playoffs for the Fraternal Youth League are scheduled to start with a doubleheader on Saturday at 1 p. m. at Block Park.

The American Legion nine won the regular seasonal title.

Saturday's twin bill pairs the American Legion and VFW at 1 p. m., followed by the Rotary vs. Elks at 3 o'clock.

On Sunday the winners of Saturday's doubleheader meet at 2:05 p. m. with the losers coming up on 4 p. m.

Pre-Season Poll Gives No. 1 Spot To Michigan State

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Before a muscle has been flexed in serious competition, Michigan State has been selected as the No. 1 college football team of 1952 in The Associated Press annual pre-season poll.

The Spartans edged out the potent Maryland eleven in what amounted to a two-team race for the top spot, the 214 sports writers and sportscasters participating in the poll piling up 1,720 points for Coach Biggie Munn's team to 1,696 for Maryland.

Georgia Tech was a fairly respectable third choice with 1,233 points, but was not even close to the first two when it came to first-place votes.

The point totals were based on 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc., and Michigan State's top point total was the result of its edge in points awarded for the lesser positions, as the Spartans received 77 first place votes to 79 for the runnerup Maryland team.

Georgia Tech Third

Georgia Tech received only 15 first-place votes, but was well-supported for a place high in the top 10.

An idea as to the wide difference of opinion as to the merits of the clubs this year may be obtained from the fact that 60 teams were awarded at least one point in the voting, and no less than 17 received votes for the No. 1. spot.

The top 10 with their point totals (first place votes in parenthesis) follow:

Michigan State (77)	1,720
Maryland (79)	1,696
Georgia Tech (15)	1,233
Oklahoma (16)	1,058
Illinois (7)	1,045
Tennessee (5)	708
Wisconsin (4)	534
California (2)	526
Texas Christian (1)	509
Notre Dame	482

Allie Reynolds Heads for First 20-Game Campaign With Yanks

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Allie Reynolds has achieved two of three feats a pitcher dreams about—a no-hit game and World Series triumph. Today the 33-year-old New York Yankee right-hander stands a good chance of realizing the third—a 20-victory season.

Reynolds, one of the game's best "money pitchers," turned in his 17th victory of the season last night as the Bombers crushed Bobby Schantz and the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-2. This enabled the Yanks to protect their 3½-game American League lead over the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians, behind Mike Garcia, turned back the Detroit Tigers, 2-0, in the afternoon. In other games, Washington defeated Boston, 4-2 for the Senators' fifth successive win, and St. Louis trounced Chicago, 8-0, as Vic Wertz supported Duane Pillette's shutout pitching by cracking two home runs.

Dodgers Drop to 7

Brooklyn's National League advantage was sliced to seven games as the Dodgers dropped a 6-5 decision in eleven innings to Boston while the runner-up New York Giants disposed of Philadelphia, 4-3, also in 11-innings. Monte Irvin won the game with a bases-loaded single.

St. Louis turned back Chicago, 1-0, and Cincinnati humiliated Pittsburgh, 7-2, for Herm Wehmeier's seventh victory.

The Yanks, held to one hit by the A's Harry Byrd Wednesday night, ripped Schantz and Ed Wright for 13 safeties while Reynolds permitted but eight.

Reynolds and little Bobby were hooked up in a tight duel for five innings. The Yanks scored in the second on Gil McDougald's homer and the A's countered with one run in the fourth, an inning in which they blew a fine chance to rack up Reynolds. The A's loaded the bases with none out but Reynolds was equal to the occasion, allowing only one run to score.

Shantz got a taste of what was to come in the sixth when the Yanks shoved three runs home on Yogi Berra's two-run double and Gene Woodling's single. The seventh was a nightmare for the A's ace as the Yanks rammed home seven runs. McDougald climaxed the fireworks with a three-run homer off Wright. It marked the third time that Shantz has failed to gain his 23rd triumph.

Reynolds, who pitched two no-hitters last year and owns four World Series conquests, came close to 20 games in 1947, his first year with the Yanks. He missed the boat by one.

18th For Garcia

Garcia recorded his 18th victory for Cleveland in blanking Detroit on five hits. Luke Easter's 25th home run of the season in the fourth inning off Bill Wight was all Mike needed. George Strickland singled home Birdie Tebbetts with an insurance run in the seventh.

Washington's Bob Porterfield tamed the reeling Red Sox on eight hits. The Senators broke a 2-2 tie with a pair of runs in the fifth inning on Ken Wood's run-scoring triple and a wild pitch. The Sox now have dropped six straight games.

The Dodgers suffered their first defeat in 15 meetings with the Braves in losing a night game at Boston. Brooklyn-born Sid Gordon singled home Johnny Logan from third base with two out in the 11th to break up the contest. Relief pitcher Joe Black was charged with the loss, his third compared with 12 victories.

Stu Miller, sensational Cardinal rookie righthander, turned in his second shutout over Chicago in three weeks under the lights at St. Louis. The Cards nicked Warren Hacker for the game's only run in the first inning on singles by Red Schoendienst, Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter. Miller fanned seven and walked four.

Van Aken-Boice Match at 2 P.M.

The second half of the 36-hole championship golf match between Bill Van Aken of Wiltwyck and Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill will start on Saturday at 2 p. m. at Twaalfskill Golf Club. The club champions will start all even, having battled 18 holes to a standoff in the mud and rain Labor Day at Wiltwyck. Van Aken will be seeking his third city crown, while Boice, a favorite on his home course, will be after his second title.

Rhinebeck Races Set for Sunday

Stock car racing returns to Rhinebeck Speedway on Sunday, Sept. 7, at 3:15 p. m. after a week's layoff because of the Dutchess County Fair.

For the remainder of the season, the NASCAR races will be scheduled Sundays at 3:15 p. m.

Area fans will witness a twice-postponed match race between Larry Shurter of West Shokan and Russ Trulove—the outgrowth of a disputed scramble earlier in the season in which the drivers appeared to finish in a dead heat.

Kingston Old Timers Ready for Saugerties

Rival lineups have been announced and the stage is set for the third annual version of the arnica-and-old-aches "Old Timers" doubleheader between fat-and-fortyish former baseball stars of Saugerties and Kingston.

The setting is Cantine Memorial Field, Saugerties, on Sunday at 3 p. m., following a 2-inning contest between the "Greybeards" of pre-World War I vintage.

Sunday's meeting between the stars of the 30s of Saugerties and Kingston is the third annual clash in the series inaugurated in 1950. The Saugerties club won both previous games.

Big Day Planned

The proceeds will go to the C. A. Lynch Christmas Candy Fund.

Manager Thomas A. Davitt of the Kingston squad today released a partial list of local players.

"If the game goes six innings," he said, "we may have to use the double or triple platoon system. Several of the boys still have to be contacted but we expect to have a representative group of old timers on hand."

Davitt expressed regret that Joe Hoffman, veteran catcher, would not be able to play this year because of a previous commitment on the date of the game.

"I understand Hoffman has a date with Leo Durocher of the Giants at the Giants-Dodgers doubleheader Sunday. Something about strategy for the remainder of the season against the Dodgers."

"Well," continued Davitt, "a lot of fans will miss Joe but Leo needs him more than we do. We wouldn't be too concerned about his batting but we'll miss his catching."

Roster Listed

Davitt listed among other such familiar names as Bud Culloton, James "Babe" Volker, Bill Thomas, Tommy Lewis and Eddie Baker among the hurling corps.

"And, maybe a surprise choice," he went on.

Among the other former stars of the 1930s will be Bob "Gramps" Sickler; the one-time dream outfield of Charlie Lay, Pres Knight and Jimmy Merritt; Davitt, Eddie Burgevin, the third sacker with the rifle-shot arm; Frank "Boots" Leskie, Joe Messinger, Ralphie Williams, Tommy Lewis, Steve Didzik, Dewey Van Buren, Carl "Dutch" Glaser, Joseph "Kid" Moore, Jimmy Turck, Hammerin' Hank Cragan and many others.

The Kingston contingent will leave from Jack Dawkin's restaurant at 1 p. m. Sunday.

Ferrier's 63 Tops Empire State Open

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP) — Hottest of 25 par-crackers, Big Jim Ferrier of San Francisco paced a field of 133 into today's second round of the $15,000 Empire State Open golf tournament.

Ferrier's blazing 63 at the par-70 Normanside Country Club led a parade of record-smashers in yesterday's opening round. Besides the 25 under par, three broke the course record of 65 for the 6,178-yard layout.

Fred Haas of New Orleans and Mike Homa of Rye were on Ferrier's heels with 64s.

Billy Shields of Albany, New York amateur champion and former holder of the course record, was alone at 66.

The pre-tourney favorite, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., carded a 67. Tied with him for fifth place were Armand Farina of Schenectady and Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn.

Ferrier's wedge and putter gave him a flying start. He holed a 40-yard wedge for an eagle 2 on the 13th that helped him to a five-under-par 30 for the second nine.

Five were clustered at 68, including Jim Turnesa, National PGA champion. The others were Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Calif.; Bob Crow of Maplewood, N. J., and Bob Gadja of Birmingham, Mich.

Thirteen players were deadlocked at 69. Among them were Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.; Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.; Milon Marusic of Herkimer, and George Fazio of Pine Valley, N. J.

Elks Nine Grabs Fourth Place For FYL Shaughnessy Playoffs

Turck Blanks Police 8-0 on 2-Hitter

The Elks nine crushed the Police, 8 to 0, behind Tony Turck's two-hit pitching yesterday to grab the fourth slot in the Fraternal Youth League's Shaughnessy playoffs.

The post-season games are scheduled with doubleheaders Saturday and Sunday at Block Park.

A six-run explosion off starter Ernie Madison settled the issue before the spectators had settled themselves in their seats.

Meanwhile, Turck, the ace graduate of the 1951 KAA Little League, restricted the Police to harmless singles by Seymour Semilof and Bob Tellier. He walked four and struck out six.

A brilliant relief chore by Bruce Bechtold went to waste. Coming on in the second inning, Bechtold walked two and struck out 10. The Elks, however, got to him for a couple of runs in the fifth inning for something of a personal triumph over the ace right hander.

Jim Jackson, the Elks third sacker, collected two of the five hits off Madison and Bechtold. The others went to Bob Burns, Jack Redmond and Eric Blackwell.

Big First Inning

Madison quickly loaded the sacks in the first inning when he walked Nick Kearney, hit Bob Burns with a pitch and yielded a single to Jim Jackson. One out and the bases loaded, Madison walked Nerone, forcing in Kearney. Jackson scored after Ron Jansen's fly to Dachenhausen. Turck's walk re-loads the bases. Jack Redmond's single accounted for the third run. Eric Blackwell singled home two more and the sixth marker of the frame resulted from an infield error.

Jansen's walk and an error by Ed Hearst on Turck's grounder sent Jansen across in the fifth and Fibber Davitt squeezed in the final run. The game was called on account of darkness after Cragan fanned for the final out in the fifth.

Turner 9-5 Choice Over Bobby Dykes

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Aggressive Gil Turner is a 9 to 5 favorite to get back on the winning trail tonight when he takes on stiff-punching Bobby Dykes of Miami in a ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Stopped in 11 rounds by welterweight champion Kid Gavilan in his last start in July, the 21-year old Turner has been handed one of the toughest possible foes for his comeback effort.

Dykes, a 22-year-old six-footer with dynamite in either fist, has 42 knockouts to his credit in 90 pro fights. The transplanted Texan was barely nosed out by Gavilan in a title fight in February and has won six in a row since. Like Turner, he has ambitions to fight Gavilan again and he's ready for the fight of his life. The winner figures to share in some rich purses in the near future.

The 9 p. m. (EST) bout will be broadcast and telecast nationally.

Little League, FYL Playoffs Set

The best-of-three series between the Dodgers and Red Sox for the KAA Little League championship gets under way at 6 p. m. today at the 156th FA diamond.

Southpaw Glenn Newell, the Dodgers hurling ace, will go against Don Kruger, a surprise pitching selection for the Red Sox. There is also a possibility that Charlie Boice, the bellwether of the staff during the second half, may be the last minute choice.

The Dodgers won the first round and the Red Sox copped the second half with identical records of seven wins and two defeats.

Meanwhile, the Shaughnessy playoffs for the Fraternal Youth League are scheduled to start with a doubleheader on Saturday at 1 p. m. at Block Park.

The American Legion nine won the regular seasonal title.

Saturday's twin bill pairs the American Legion and VFW at 1 p. m., followed by the Rotary vs. Elks at 3 o'clock.

On Sunday the winners of Saturday's doubleheader meet at 2:05 p. m. with the losers coming up on 4 p. m.

Pre-Season Poll Gives No. 1 Spot To Michigan State

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Before a muscle has been flexed in serious competition, Michigan State has been selected as the No. 1 college football team of 1952 in The Associated Press annual pre-season poll.

The Spartans edged out the potent Maryland eleven in what amounted to a two-team race for the top spot, the 214 sports writers and sportscasters participating in the poll piling up 1,720 points for Coach Biggie Munn's team to 1,696 for Maryland.

Georgia Tech was a fairly respectable third choice with 1,233 points, but was not even close to the first two when it came to first-place votes.

The point totals were based on 10 points for a first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc., and Michigan State's top point total was the result of its edge in points awarded for the lesser positions, as the Spartans received 77 first place votes to 79 for the runnerup Maryland team.

Georgia Tech Third

Georgia Tech received only 15 first-place votes, but was well-supported for a place high in the top 10.

An idea as to the wide difference of opinion as to the merits of the clubs this year may be obtained from the fact that 60 teams were awarded at least one point in the voting, and no less than 17 received votes for the No. 1. spot.

The top 10 with their point totals (first place votes in parenthesis) follow:

Michigan State (77)	1,720
Maryland (79)	1,696
Georgia Tech (15)	1,233
Oklahoma (16)	1,058
Illinois (7)	1,045
Tennessee (5)	708
Wisconsin (4)	534
California (2)	526
Texas Christian (1)	509
Notre Dame	482

Allie Reynolds Heads for First 20-Game Campaign With Yanks

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Allie Reynolds has achieved two of three feats a pitcher dreams about—a no-hit game and World Series triumph. Today the 33-year-old New York Yankee right-hander stands a good chance of realizing the third—a 20-victory season.

Reynolds, one of the game's best "money pitchers," turned in his 17th victory of the season last night as the Bombers crushed Bobby Schantz and the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-2. This enabled the Yanks to protect their 3½-game American League lead over the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians, behind Mike Garcia, turned back the Detroit Tigers, 2-0, in the afternoon. In other games, Washington defeated Boston, 4-2 for the Senators' fifth successive win, and St. Louis trounced Chicago, 8-0, as Vic Wertz supported Duane Pillette's shutout pitching by cracking two home runs.

Dodgers Drop to 7

Brooklyn's National League advantage was sliced to seven games as the Dodgers dropped a 6-5 decision in eleven innings to Boston while the runner-up New York Giants disposed of Philadelphia, 4-3, also in 11-innings. Monte Irvin won the game with a bases-loaded single.

St. Louis turned back Chicago, 1-0, and Cincinnati humiliated Pittsburgh, 7-2, for Herm Wehmeier's seventh victory.

The Yanks, held to one hit by the A's Harry Byrd Wednesday night, ripped Schantz and Ed Wright for 13 safeties while Reynolds permitted but eight.

Reynolds and little Bobby were hooked up in a tight duel for five innings. The Yanks scored in the second on Gil McDougald's homer and the A's countered with one run in the fourth, an inning in which they blew a fine chance to rack up Reynolds. The A's loaded the bases with none out but Reynolds was equal to the occasion, allowing only one run to score.

Shantz got a taste of what was to come in the sixth when the Yanks shoved three runs home on Yogi Berra's two-run double and Gene Woodling's single. The seventh was a nightmare for the A's ace as the Yanks rammed home seven runs. McDougald climaxed the fireworks with a three-run homer off Wright. It marked the third time that Shantz has failed to gain his 23rd triumph.

Reynolds, who pitched two no-hitters last year and owns four World Series conquests, came close to 20 games in 1947, his first year with the Yanks. He missed the boat by one.

18th For Garcia

Garcia recorded his 18th victory for Cleveland in blanking Detroit on five hits. Luke Easter's 25th home run of the season in the fourth inning off Bill Wight was all Mike needed. George Strickland singled home Birdie Tebbetts with an insurance run in the seventh.

Washington's Bob Porterfield tamed the reeling Red Sox on eight hits. The Senators broke a 2-2 tie with a pair of runs in the fifth inning on Ken Wood's run-scoring triple and a wild pitch. The Sox now have dropped six straight games.

The Dodgers suffered their first defeat in 15 meetings with the Braves in losing a night game at Boston. Brooklyn-born Sid Gordon singled home Johnny Logan from third base with two out in the 11th to break up the contest. Relief pitcher Joe Black was charged with the loss, his third compared with 12 victories.

Stu Miller, sensational Cardinal rookie righthander, turned in his second shutout over Chicago in three weeks under the lights at St. Louis. The Cards nicked Warren Hacker for the game's only run in the first inning on singles by Red Schoendienst, Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter. Miller fanned seven and walked four.

Van Aken-Boice Match at 2 P.M.

The second half of the 36-hole championship golf match between Bill Van Aken of Wiltwyck and Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill will start on Saturday at 2 p. m. at Twaalfskill Golf Club. The club champions will start all even, having battled 18 holes to a standoff in the mud and rain Labor Day at Wiltwyck. Van Aken will be seeking his third city crown, while Boice, a favorite on his home course, will be after his second title.

Rhinebeck Races Set for Sunday

Stock car racing returns to Rhinebeck Speedway on Sunday, Sept. 7, at 3:15 p. m. after a week's layoff because of the Dutchess County Fair.

For the remainder of the season, the NASCAR races will be scheduled Sundays at 3:15 p. m.

Area fans will witness a twice-postponed match race between Larry Shurter of West Shokan and Russ Trulove—the outgrowth of a disputed scramble earlier in the season in which the drivers appeared to finish in a dead heat.

Stan Disbrow, the only driver with three feature victories, is favored in the 25-lap race.

Kingston Old Timers Ready for Saugerties

Rival lineups have been announced and the stage is set for the third annual version of the arnica-and-old-aches "Old Timers" doubleheader between fat-and-fortyish former baseball stars of Saugerties and Kingston.

The setting is Cantine Memorial Field, Saugerties, on Sunday at 3 p. m., following a 2-inning contest between the "Greybeards" of pre-World War I vintage.

Sunday's meeting between the stars of the 30s of Saugerties and Kingston is the third annual clash in the series inaugurated in 1950. The Saugerties club won both previous games.

Big Day Planned

Les Brink, the veteran Saugerties second baseman who is in charge of the promotion, has left no detail unattended. There will be a parade through the village, ceremonies at the ball park and a reception for the old timers at the C. A. Lynch Company fire house after the game.

The proceeds will go to the C. A. Lynch Christmas Candy Fund.

Manager Thomas A. Davitt of the Kingston squad today released a partial list of local players.

"If the game goes six innings," he said, "we may have to use the double or triple platoon system. Several of the boys still have to be contacted but we expect to have a representative group of old timers on hand."

Davitt expressed regret that Joe Hoffman, veteran catcher, would not be able to play this year because of a previous commitment on the date of the game.

"I understand Hoffman has a date with Leo Durocher of the Giants at the Giants-Dodgers doubleheader Sunday. Something about strategy for the remainder of the season against the Dodgers."

"Well," continued Davitt, "a lot of fans will miss Joe but Leo needs him more than we do. We wouldn't be too concerned about his batting but we'll miss his catching."

Roster Listed

Davitt listed among other such familiar names as Bud Culloton, James "Babe" Volker, Bill Thomas, Tommy Lewis and Eddie Baker among the hurling corps.

"And, maybe a surprise choice," he went on.

Among the other former stars of the 1930s will be Bob "Gramps" Sickler; the one-time dream outfield of Charlie Lay, Pres Knight and Jimmy Merritt; Davitt, Eddie Burgevin, the third sacker with the rifle-shot arm; Frank "Boots" Leskie, Joe Messinger, Ralphie Williams, Tommy Lewis, Steve Didzik, Dewey Van Buren, Carl "Dutch" Glaser, Joseph "Kid" Moore, Jimmy Turck, Hammerin' Hank Cragan and many others.

The Kingston contingent will leave from Jack Dawkin's restaurant at 1 p. m. Sunday.

Ferrier's 63 Tops Empire State Open

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Hottest of 25 par-crackers, Big Jim Ferrier of San Francisco paced a field of 133 into today's second round of the $15,000 Empire State Open golf tournament.

Ferrier's blazing 63 at the par-70 Normanside Country Club led a parade of record-smashers in yesterday's opening round. Besides the 25 under par, three broke the course record of 65 for the 6,178-yard layout.

Fred Haas of New Orleans and Mike Homa of Rye were on Ferrier's heels with 64s.

Billy Shields of Albany, New York amateur champion and former holder of the course record, was alone at 66.

The pre-tourney favorite, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., carded a 67. Tied with him for fifth place were Armand Farina of Schenectady and Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn.

Ferrier's wedge and putter gave him a flying start. He holed a 40-yard wedge for an eagle 2 on the 13th that helped him to a five-under-par 30 for the second nine.

Five were clustered at 68, including Jim Turnesa, National PGA champion. The others were Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Calif.; Bob Crow of Maplewood, N. J., and Bob Gadja of Birmingham, Mich.

Thirteen players were deadlocked at 69. Among them were Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill.; Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y.; Milon Marusic of Herkimer, and George Fazio of Pine Valley, N. J.

Harridge Edict Burns Greenberg

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The wrath of the Cleveland Indians Hank Greenberg and Ellis Ryan has been leveled on a decision of Will Harridge, American League president.

Harridge yesterday rejected Cleveland's protest of the "battle of the tarpaulin" in the nightcap of a Labor Day doubleheader at St. Louis.

Greenberg, the Indians general manager, and Ryan, club president, said in Cleveland that "this is an outrageous decision by the American League."

Harridge said he had no comment to make.

"Bill Veeck has been permitted to get away with another travesty on baseball which ranks with midgets and the 'emancipation proclamation' he awarded himself after firing (Rogers) Hornsby.

"Evidently the result of a ball game is no longer determined by the players on the field, but by whoever has the best or worst ground crew."

In the protested game, rain twice halted play, wiped out three sixth-inning Cleveland runs and resulted in a 2-1 St. Louis victory in five innings.

Cleveland protested that the canvas used was porous and failed to protect the field and that a deliberate attempt was made by Veeck to avoid making the field playable.

ATTEMPTED DOUBLE STEAL NIPPED

Philadelphia Phillies' centerfielder Richie Ashburn is tagged at plate by Giants' pitcher Jim Hearn to nip attempted double steal in first inning of game at New York's Polo Grounds. Umpire is Bill Stewart. Ashburn tried to score from third as teammate Del Ennis broke from first to second. The ball went from Giant catcher Wes Westrum to shortstop Alvin Dark to Westrum to third baseman Henry Thompson to Hearn in time to get Ashburn. The Giants won, 4-3, in 11 innings.

LEADING MEN—Oklahoma City's stringbean Charley Coe, left, is regarded as the one to beat in the United States Amateur Championship over the scenic Seattle Golf Club course, Aug. 18-23. Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., hopes he will not have to blast out of a sandtrap defending the title. Atlanta's Harvie Ward, Jr., won the British Amateur. (NEA)

17-Year-Old Australian, Ken Rosewall, Upsets Vic Seixas in National Singles

Forest Hills, Sept. 5 (AP)—All on account of a 17-year-old kid, the form chart for the 71st U.S. singles tennis championship today showed a sharp rise in the direction of an All-Australian final for the men's title. And there was a corresponding dip in America's already low prospects of regaining the Davis Cup.

The kid is Ken Rosewall, Australia's junior champion, whose first appearance in the big Forest Hills Stadium was a somewhat breathtaking affair.

Ken not only knocked America's No. 1 player, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia out of the tournament, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3, but he showed some 10,000 spectators the kind of tennis they haven't seen from a newcomer in years.

Even those who have been following Rosewall's progress were gasping a bit over the improvement he has made since last winter.

Three other Australians, including another 17-year-old, remained in the picture today as the tournament moved into the quarter finals. But none was quite so exciting as Rosewall.

Larsen Goes Down

Husky Lewis Hoad, who has been fighting it out with Rosewell for junior honors in Australia, accomplished yesterday's second-biggest upset when he knocked off the 1950 U. S. Champion, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. That wasn't such a big surprise to the fans because Larsen has the habit of playing as erratically as a left-hander is supposed to.

Hoad has to play Frank Sedgman, the No. 1 Australian player and the defending champion here, in today's quarter final.

The rest of the quarter final lineup, from bottom to top, is Mervyn Rose of Australia, against Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., sole survivor of the first five seeded Americans; Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., upsetter of fourth-seeded Herbie Flam, against 19-year-old Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Rosewall against Gardnar Mulloy, the Miami, Fla., veteran who beat him at Wimbledon last spring.

It is the first time in history the morning newspaper in this city of 80,000 population has failed to support a Democratic presidential nominee. The paper is nearing its 125th birthday.

The Enquirer has a daily circulation of 23,000.

U. S. Pay Roll Builds Up

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Uncle Sam's civilian pay roll for the past fiscal year that ended June 30 soared nearly two billion dollars above the previous year to a total of more than 9½ billions, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) reported yesterday. Byrd also said 2,599,122 persons were on the government's civilian pay roll during July, an increase of 2,360 over June. Both the fiscal year costs and the July totals are based upon certified reports made by the scores of federal departments, commissions, and agencies to the congressional committee on reduction of non-essential expenditures.

World Cruise Ends

Baltimore (AP)—You'd think Bill Murrian, a youthful 56, would be ready for a rest after a five-year-trip around the world in a 30-foot-yawl. But Bill, who stopped here en route to New York, plans to sell the yawl and buy a station wagon to tour the United States. "I've been at sea since 1919," he says. "There are an awful lot of things I have to do on land." He started from Los Angeles and visited the West Indies, Ascension Island, South Africa, Australia, New Guinea and Hawaii. Illness forced his wife to abandon the trip in Samoa. She's been knocking around in Europe awaiting his return.

Gregory Awarded $750 Verdict Over J & A Roofing Firm

A city court jury last night returned a verdict of $750 for the plaintiff in a contract action brought by John Gregory, of 421 Abeel street, against the J & A Roofing & Siding Co., 394 Hasbrouck avenue, before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

The plaintiff claimed a breach of contract for work done on the defendant's Hasbrouck avenue storage property and the defendant held that Gregory had agreed verbally to do the job at a flat rate of from $200 to $250.

The work involved the removing of outcropping rock, part of which required blasting and the plaintiff's full claim was $940 for the work done. He said his agreement was on a basis of $1.50 an hour for labor and $5 an hour for a compressor.

Two witnesses testified for the plaintiff and three for the defendant. Attorney Howard C. St. John appeared for Gregory and Abraham Streifer for the roofing company.

City Marshal Benson V. Miller went scouting talesmen when the panel of 10 jurors was exhausted. He got two from civilian defense quarters across the corridor from the city court room in the city hall, and one from the American Legion building on West O'Reilly street.

The jury deliberated 27 minutes before returning the verdict.

Selfishness Causes Divorce

Bangor, Me. (AP)—Selfishness is the real cause of divorce, says Paul W. Alexander, presiding judge of the integrated family court in Toledo, O. Lack of money, women and liquor are only symptoms, says the judge, a visitor here. Even the poorest people can get along together if they have the will to succeed in their marriage. He believes that automobiles make delinquency a lot easier. He doubts that movies, TV or comics have contributed to juvenile delinquency.

Harridge Edict Burns Greenberg

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The wrath of the Cleveland Indians Hank Greenberg and Ellis Ryan has been leveled on a decision of Will Harridge, American League president.

Harridge yesterday rejected Cleveland's protest of the "battle of the tarpaulin" in the nightcap of a Labor Day doubleheader at St. Louis.

Greenberg, the Indians general manager, and Ryan, club president, said in Cleveland that "this is an outrageous decision by the American League."

Harridge said he had no comment to make.

"Bill Veeck has been permitted to get away with another travesty on baseball which ranks with midgets and the 'emancipation proclamation' he awarded himself after firing (Rogers) Hornsby.

"Evidently the result of a ball game is no longer determined by the players on the field, but by whoever has the best or worst ground crew."

In the protested game, rain twice halted play, wiped out three sixth-inning Cleveland runs and resulted in a 2-1 St. Louis victory in five innings.

Cleveland protested that the canvas used was porous and failed to protect the field and that a deliberate attempt was made by Veeck to avoid making the field playable.

ATTEMPTED DOUBLE STEAL NIPPED

Philadelphia Phillies' centerfielder Richie Ashburn is tagged at plate by Giants' pitcher Jim Hearn to nip attempted double steal in first inning of game at New York's Polo Grounds. Umpire is Bill Stewart. Ashburn tried to score from third as teammate Del Ennis broke from first to second. The ball went from Giant catcher Wes Westrum to shortstop Alvin Dark to Westrum to third baseman Henry Thompson to Hearn in time to get Ashburn. The Giants won, 4-3, in 11 innings.

LEADING MEN—Oklahoma City's stringbean Charley Coe, left, is regarded as the one to beat in the United States Amateur Championship over the scenic Seattle Golf Club course, Aug. 18-23. Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., hopes he will not have to blast out of a sandtrap defending the title. Atlanta's Harvie Ward, Jr., won the British Amateur. (NEA)

17-Year-Old Australian, Ken Rosewall, Upsets Vic Seixas in National Singles

Forest Hills, Sept. 5 (AP)—All on account of a 17-year-old kid, the form chart for the 71st U.S. singles tennis championship today showed a sharp rise in the direction of an All-Australian final for the men's title. And there was a corresponding dip in America's already low prospects of regaining the Davis Cup.

The kid is Ken Rosewall, Australia's junior champion, whose first appearance in the big Forest Hills Stadium was a somewhat breathtaking affair.

Ken not only knocked America's No. 1 player, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia out of the tournament, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3, but he showed some 10,000 spectators the kind of tennis they haven't seen from a newcomer in years.

Even those who have been following Rosewall's progress were gasping a bit over the improvement he has made since last winter.

Three other Australians, including another 17-year-old, remained in the picture today as the tournament moved into the quarter finals. But none was quite so exciting as Rosewall.

Larsen Goes Down

Husky Lewis Hoad, who has been fighting it out with Rosewell for junior honors in Australia, accomplished yesterday's second-biggest upset when he knocked off the 1950 U. S. Champion, Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. That wasn't such a big surprise to the fans because Larsen has the habit of playing as erratically as a left-hander is supposed to.

Hoad has to play Frank Sedgman, the No. 1 Australian player and the defending champion here, in today's quarter final.

The rest of the quarter final lineup, from bottom to top, is Mervyn Rose of Australia, against Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., sole survivor of the first five seeded Americans; Straight Clark of Pasadena, Calif., upsetter of fourth-seeded Herbie Flam, against 19-year-old Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Rosewall against Gardnar Mulloy, the Miami, Fla., veteran who beat him at Wimbledon last spring.

Columbus, Ga., Sept. 5 (AP)—The Columbus Enquirer announced today it will support the presidential candidacy of Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

It is the first time in history the morning newspaper in this city of 80,000 population has failed to support a Democratic presidential nominee. The paper is nearing ifs 125th birthday.

The Enquirer has a daily circulation of 23,000.

U. S. Pay Roll Builds Up

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Uncle Sam's civilian pay roll for the past fiscal year that ended June 30 soared nearly two billion dollars above the previous year to a total of more than 9½ billions, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) reported yesterday. Byrd also said 2,599,122 persons were on the government's civiljan pay roll during July, an increase of 2,360 over June. Both the fiscal year costs and the July totals are based upon certified reports made by the scores of federal departments, commissions, and agencies to the congressional committee on reduction of non-essential expenditures.

World Cruise Ends

Baltimore (AP)—You'd think Bill Murrfan, a youthful 56, would be ready for a rest after a five-year-trip around the world in a 30-foot-yawl. But Bill, who stopped here en route to New York, plans to sell the yawl and buy a station wagon to tour the United States. "I've been at sea since 1919," he says. "There are an awful lot of things I have to do on land." He started from Los Angeles and visited the West Indies, Ascension Island, South Africa, Australia, New Guinea and Hawaii. Illness forced his wife to abandon the trip in Samoa. She's been knocking around in Europe awaiting his return.

Study Civil Defense

Des Moines, Ia. (AP)—Fundamentals of civil defense have been added to the study courses of all Iowa public school children from the first grade through the senior year in high school. The innovation starts with the fall term. "The program in the state's 835 public schools is not designed to inject fear but to stress self-preservation," said Miss Jessie M. Parker, superintendent of the state Department of Public Instruction.

Gregory Awarded $750 Verdict Over J & A Roofing Firm

A city court jury last night returned a verdict of $750 for the plaintiff in a contract action brought by John Gregory, of 421 Abeel street, against the J & A Roofing & Siding Co., 394 Hasbrouck avenue, before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

The plaintiff claimed a breach of contract for work done on the defendant's Hasbrouck avenue storage property and the defendant held that Gregory had agreed verbally to do the job at a flat rate of from $200 to $250.

The work involved the removing of outcropping rock, part of which required blasting and the plaintiff's full claim was $940 for the work done. He said his agreement was on a basis of $1.50 an hour for labor and $5 an hour for a compressor.

Two witnesses testified for the plaintiff and three for the defendant. Attorney Howard C. St. John appeared for Gregory and Abraham Streifer for the roofing company.

City Marshal Benson V. Miller went scouting talesmen when the panel of 10 jurors was exhausted. He got two from civilian defense quarters across the corridor from the city court room in the city hall, and one from the American Legion building on West O'Reilly street.

The jury deliberated 27 minutes before returning the verdict.

Those who drowned were Avery Keever, 64, an employe of the Rivercrest Sanitarium, Long Island City, Queens; and Mrs. Margaret Dreschsler, 46, of 33-53 61st street, Woodside, Queens.

Selfishness Causes Divorce

Bangor, Me. (AP)—Selfishness is the real cause of divorce, says Paul W. Alexander, presiding judge of the integrated family court in Toledo, O. Lack of money, women and liquor are only symptoms, says the judge, a visitor here. Even the poorest people can get along together if they have the will to succeed in their marriage. He believes that automobiles make delinquency a lot easier. He doubts that movies, TV or comics have contributed to juvenile delinquency.

Japanese 'Ghost Town'

Tokyo (AP)—A company decision to close Japan's most famous gold mine seems likely to establish a Western-style "ghost town" in the Orient. Some 580 miners and the town of 10,000 which depends upon the mine are protesting against the shutdown on historic Sado Island, once a place of exile for Japan's emperors. The vein was struck 351 years ago and has been worked almost steadily ever since. Once the mine employed 100,000 men but now the paydirt has petered out.

Education Board

next few years to eliminate congestion. He called attention to the shift of population uptown and cited the housing developments which are being erected in the uptown area as possible sources of greatly increased school population. He stated it was financially unsound to consider erection of any new school buildings in the immediate future and suggested the No. 8 building be kept for the present.

Authority Discussed

Another matter brought to the attention of the board was the closing of school Thursday afternoon for the "teachers' picnic" and conference. The board discussed authority for such closing and President Rowland stated that a school calender was made up annually indicating days when schools would not be in session and it was suggested that any exception to this calendar should be cleared through the board authority. One member stated that it was confusing to parents who thought their children were in school, only to find they had been excused early and were not in school.

A communication was received from the Potsdam State Teachers College stating that two cadet teachers had been assigned to the Kingston schools.

Three Resign Posts

Resignations of three teachers were acted on. Mary Louise Karl, guidance teacher, submitted her resignation. Ethel Carlson also resigned and Dr. Francis LoGalbo, medical supervisor, submitted his resignation since he has passed his physical examination and is about to be called into service.

A leave of absence was granted Herbert C. Fister from September 29, 1952 until June 30, 1953, due to the necessity of going to Arizona because of illness of his wife.

Probationary appointments were given Miss Adelaine De Carlo to commercial department at a salary of $3450; Florence Stern as physical education teacher at $3,000 and Judge Waymon Taylor a special class teacher at $3,450.

Would Transfer District

A communication was received from District Superintendent Clarence A. Johnson stating that the trustee of District No. 8, town of Ulster, had made inquiry as to whether the city of Kingston would be interested in accepting transfer for the entire district into the city system.

A reply has been made suggesting that a meeting be held between Kingston school officials and the trustee of No. 8 district to discuss the matter. It was indicated that the board might be able to make a "desirable arrangement." At present many pupils from No. 8 district attend the city schools under tuition contract but the district retains its own identity. A transfer of the district would mean incorporation of the district into the city system completely.

The president and clerk was authorized to issue warrants for the payroll and vouchers for July amounting to $236,060.52, and warrants for Veterans On-Farm Training program payroll and vouchers for July amounting to $733.50 and warrants in payment of the payroll and vouchers for August amounting to $251,202.94 and August Veterans program payroll and vouchers in the sum of $734.

It was moved that bills in connection with the alterations at the high school cafeteria and kitchen for August be paid out of capital funds in the amount of $21,877.73. Work in the cafeteria is progressing and equipment will be on hand for installation as soon as the room is ready to receive it. Work is progressing rapidly and the equipment will be installed about October 1. Meanwhile the municipal auditorium is being used for cafeteria purposes and also for gym work. Consent for this use was granted by the mayor.

Bricklayers Needed

Trustee Herzog reported work on the field house is progressing, but it has been slowed due to lack of bricklayers. Rafters will be here this week and will be erected the following week. By October first the roof will be on and the building enclosed by November first, the contractor reports.

A rumor that the Washington School had been flooded by the Labor Day rain storm was denied by the board. Through the cooperation of the Board of Public Works and the fire department, pumpers were put to work to keep the water out after sand bagging had been resorted to. Water almost reached the ventilators but no water entered the school. It was rumored that two feet of water had entered the building.

In appreciation of the work of the Board of Public Works and the Kingston Fire Department in preventing water getting into the school, the board voted to send a letter of thanks to the two departments and also a letter of thanks to Mayor Newkirk for consent to use the Municipal Auditorium while the high school cafeteria and gym is being altered.

Contract Awarded

A contract was awarded James Berardi to grade, drain and install mechanical stabilization at the Washington School for $32,080. V. J. Constanzi, Inc., bid $42,930. Work is already in progress and the job is about half completed.

James Berardi was also awarded the contract to grade, drain, place mechanical stabilization at the high school play area for $15,325. V. J. Costanzi, Inc., submitted a bid for $16,812.

An experimental "rubberized" area is to be installed on one area to test its efficiency. It is a resiliant surface, softer that the black-top and is expected to eliminate injury to students using the area.

A contract was awarded Fred Medart to install a mechanical score board in the new field house at a cost of $587.60. I.B.M. bid $990. The board will be delivered in two or three weeks.

The board approved attendance of Superintendent Laidlaw at the annual meeting of the New York State Council of Village and City School Superintendents at Saranac Inn on September 28, 29 and 30.

A contract was awarded Dederick's drug store to supply medical supplies for $305.02. Bongartz drug store bid $323.19.

To Supply Tables

Mission Wood Products Company of Kingston was awarded a contract to supply 70 tables for the high school cafeteria at a total cost of $3,738.10 and American Seating Company awarded a contract to supply 525 chairs for $3,675.

Permission for use of school facilities was granted Ahavath Israel Sisterhood on October 27, Coach House Players on September 18, American Association of University Women on each Tuesday of every month from October to May, Kingston Hospital for graduation exercises on October 22.

The matter of vending machines in schools came up when it was disclosed vending machines had been installed in some elementary schools for sale of candy and gum. One of the high school societies has permission to sell candy in the high school for the benefit of a school fund but the board frowned on installation of vending machines in schools where profit went to individuals.

The matter was discussed at length and the board expressed an opinion that vending machines, not authorized as a part of the school program be eliminated, and that installation of any machines be made after consent of the superintendent rather than individual school officials. The board went on record as being opposed to "commercial" installations of vending machines of any nature but not opposing machines which dispense candy during lunch hours where the benefit goes to a school fund.

Ike Touches Liberty Bell

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower looks up as he and Mrs. Eisenhower, at left, touch the famed Liberty Bell during a whirlwind tour of Philadelphia's Independence Hall. In center foreground is Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine. Man behind the Republican presidential nominee is Edmund M. Riley, historian at the shrine. (AP Wirephoto).

Stevenson to Hit

Wilson Wyatt, said he will "pay his respects for one or more of the catch phrases and slogans of the Republicans."

A speech on foreign policy is scheduled for San Francisco, Sept. 9. But since Stevenson already had explored that subject in other talks, he may take this occasion to hit back at the Republicans on this issue, while developing his own position, respecting it.

Wyatt described the reports of Eisenhower's high powered drive through the South as merely "interesting." He added, "it hasn't worried us."

Smathers Says Ike Strong

Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida took a different view. He said "Eisenhower made a big impression. It certainly means he's got some strength."

The Florida Democrat went on to say he considers it a "possibility" that Eisenhower might crack the solid South and carry Florida. In a conference here with the governor yesterday Smathers urged him to campaign in Florida.

Correspondents asked if Stevenson expressed concern over the results of Eisenhower's tour of southern states.

"I don't know whether he's concerned or not," Smathers replied. "I think it's a matter of concern however."

Smathers came out of the governor's office with a prepared statement, in which he said some nice things about Stevenson and declared he would "support him."

But when reporters asked if he would campaign for the governor Smathers said he had used the word "support—whatever that might mean to you."

The word "navy" originally meant all the shipping owned by one country, and only later was the meaning limited to warships.

British Laud Yank Inflatable Falsie

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Trade Journal Tailor and Cutter stamped an okay on the latest American gadget to hit the British isles—the inflatable falsie.

In a bouncy essay titled "All Hands to the Pumps," the bible of Bond street hailed the new aid to allure as the greatest advance of its kind since the panty girdle.

John Taylor, 30-year-old editor of the journal, wrote with unrestrained enthusiasm:

"We applaud an invention which can well promise happiness to more than one extant wallflower. Who knows how many young girls, to whom the door of romance has hiterto remained bolted, may yet discover that their air is their crowning glory."

The young editor foresaw certain hazards, however, in an invention still in its infancy. He cited "the possibility of an embarrassing bang or two in an overcrowded room where the thermostat is not in good condition" and the obvious fact that "a suit modeled around a pneumatic figure would not look its best if a D.B. fitting suddenly became single-breasted."

Third Contract Probe

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Investigations Commissioner James H. Shiels said today he had information of a third contract "involving improper construction methods and practices" by Victor Clemente, Queens sewer contractor. Shiels said he obtained the information from witnesses who had appeared before him. He declined to disclose the location or size of the third job. Investigation so far has centered around an $185,000 Laurelton, Queens, project, completed this year, and a Rockaways job completed in 1940.

Japanese 'Ghost Town'

Tokyo (AP)—A company decision to close Japan's most famous gold mine seems likely to establish a Western-style "ghost town" in the Orient. Some 580 miners and the town of 10,000 which depends upon the mine are protesting against the shutdown on historic Sado Island, once a place of exile for Japan's emperors. The vein was struck 351 years ago and has been worked almost steadily ever since. Once the mine employed 100,000 men but now the paydirt has petered out.

Education Board

next few years to eliminate congestion. He called attention to the shift of population uptown and cited the housing developments which are being erected in the uptown area as possible sources of greatly increased school population. He stated it was financially unsound to consider erection of any new school buildings in the immediate future and suggested the No. 8 building be kept for the present.

Authority Discussed

Another matter brought to the attention of the board was the closing of school Thursday afternoon for the "teachers' picnic" and conference. The board discussed authority for such closing and President Rowland stated that a school calender was made up annually indicating days when schools would not be in session and it was suggested that any exception to this calendar should be cleared through the board authority. One member stated that it was confusing to parents who thought their children were in school, only to find they had been excused early and were not in school.

A communication was received from the Potsdam State Teachers College stating that two cadet teachers had been assigned to the Kingston schools.

Three Resign Posts

Resignations of three teachers were acted on. Mary Louise Karl, guidance teacher, submitted her resignation. Ethel Carlson also resigned and Dr. Francis LoGalbo, medical supervisor, submitted his resignation since he has passed his physical examination and is about to be called into service.

A leave of absence was granted Herbert C. Fister from September 29, 1952 until June 30, 1953, due to the necessity of going to Arizona because of illness of his wife.

Probationary appointments were given Miss Adelaine De Carlo to commercial department at a salary of $3450; Florence Stern as physical education teacher at $3,000 and Judge Waymon Taylor a special class teacher at $3,450.

Would Transfer District

A communication was received from District Superintendent Clarence A. Johnson stating that the trustee of District No. 8, town of Ulster, had made inquiry as to whether the city of Kingston would be interested in accepting transfer for the entire district into the city system.

A reply has been made suggesting that a meeting be held between Kingston school officials and the trustee of No. 8 district to discuss the matter. It was indicated that the board might be able to make a "desirable arrangement." At present many pupils from No. 8 district attend the city schools under tuition contract but the district retains its own identity. A transfer of the district would mean incorporation of the district into the city system completely.

The president and clerk was authorized to issue warrants for the payroll and vouchers for July amounting to $236,060.52, and warrants for Veterans On-Farm Training program payroll and vouchers for July amounting to $733.50 and warrants in payment of the payroll and vouchers for August amounting to $251,202.94 and August Veterans program payroll and vouchers in the sum of $734.

It was moved that bills in connection with the alterations at the high school cafeteria and kitchen for August be paid out of capital funds in the amount of $21,877.73. Work in the cafeteria is progressing and equipment will be on hand for installation as soon as the room is ready to receive it. Work is progressing rapidly and the equipment will be installed about October 1. Meanwhile the municipal auditorium is being used for cafeteria purposes and also for gym work. Consent for this use was granted by the mayor.

Bricklayers Needed

Trustee Herzog reported work on the field house is progressing, but it has been slowed due to lack of bricklayers. Rafters will be here this week and will be erected the following week. By October first the roof will be on and the building enclosed by November first, the contractor reports.

A rumor that the Washington School had been flooded by the Labor Day rain storm was denied by the board. Through the cooperation of the Board of Public Works and the fire department, pumpers were put to work to keep the water out after sand bagging had been resorted to. Water almost reached the ventilators but no water entered the school. It was rumored that two feet of water had entered the building.

In appreciation of the work of the Board of Public Works and the Kingston Fire Department in preventing water getting into the school, the board voted to send a letter of thanks to the two departments and also a letter of thanks to Mayor Newkirk for consent to use the Municipal Auditorium while the high school cafeteria and gym is being altered.

Contract Awarded

A contract was awarded James Berardi to grade, drain and install mechanical stabilization at the Washington School for $32,080. V. J. Constanzi, Inc., bid $42,930. Work is already in progress and the job is about half completed.

James Berardi was also awarded the contract to grade, drain, place mechanical stabilization at the high school play area for $15,325. V. J. Costanzi, Inc., submitted a bid for $16,812.

An experimental "rubberized" area is to be installed on one area to test its efficiency. It is a resiliant surface, softer that the black-top and is expected to eliminate injury to students using the area.

A contract was awarded Fred Medart to install a mechanical score board in the new field house at a cost of $587.60. I.B.M. bid $990. The board will be delivered in two or three weeks.

The board approved attendance of Superintendent Laidlaw at the annual meeting of the New York State Council of Village and City School Superintendents at Saranac Inn on September 28, 29 and 30.

A contract was awarded Dederick's drug store to supply medical supplies for $305.02. Bongartz drug store bid $323.19.

To Supply Tables

Mission Wood Products Company of Kingston was awarded a contract to supply 70 tables for the high school cafeteria at a total cost of $3,738.10 and American Seating Company awarded a contract to supply 525 chairs for $3,675.

Permission for use of school facilities was granted Ahavath Israel Sisterhood on October 27, Coach House Players on September 18, American Association of University Women on each Tuesday of every month from October to May, Kingston Hospital for graduation exercises on October 22.

The matter of vending machines in schools came up when it was disclosed vending machines had been installed in some elementary schools for sale of candy and gum. One of the high school societies has permission to sell candy in the high school but the board frowned on installation of vending machines in schools where profit went to individuals.

The matter was discussed at length and the board expressed an opinion that vending machines, not authorized as a part of the school program be eliminated, and that installation of any machines be made after consent of the superintendent rather than individual school officials. The board went on record as being opposed to "commercial" installations of vending machines of any nature but not opposing machines which dispense candy during lunch hours where the benefit goes to a school fund.

Ike Touches Liberty Bell

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower looks up as he and Mrs. Eisenhower, at left, touch the famed Liberty Bell during a whirlwind tour of Philadelphia's Independence Hall. In center foreground is Pennsylvania Gov. John S. Fine. Man behind the Republican presidential nominee is Edmund M. Riley, historian at the shrine. (AP Wirephoto).

Stevenson to Hit

Wilson Wyatt, said he will "pay his respects for one or more of the catch phrases and slogans of the Republicans."

A speech on foreign policy is scheduled for San Francisco, Sept. 9. But since Stevenson already had explored that subject in other talks, he may take this occasion to hit back at the Republicans on this issue, while developing his own position, respecting it.

Wyatt described the reports of Eisenhower's high powered drive through the South as merely "interesting." He added, "it hasn't worried us."

Smathers Says Ike Strong

Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida took a different view. He said "Eisenhower made a big impression. It certainly means he's got some strength."

The Florida Democrat went on to say he considers it a "possibility" that Eisenhower might crack the solid South and carry Florida. In a conference here with the governor yesterday Smathers urged him to campaign in Florida.

Correspondents asked if Stevenson expressed concern over the results of Eisenhower's tour of southern states.

"I don't know whether he's concerned or not," Smathers replied. "I think it's a matter of concern however."

Smathers came out of the governor's office with a prepared statement, in which he said some nice things about Stevenson and declared he would "support him."

But when reporters asked if he would campaign for the governor Smathers said he had used the word "support—whatever that might mean to you."

The word "navy" originally meant all the shipping owned by one country, and only later was the meaning limited to warships.

British Laud Yank Inflatable Falsie

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Trade Journal Tailor and Cutter stamped an okay on the latest American gadget to hit the British isles—the inflatable falsie.

In a bouncy essay titled "All Hands to the Pumps," the bible of Bond street hailed the new aid to allure as the greatest advance of its kind since the panty girdle.

John Taylor, 30-year-old editor of the journal, wrote with unrestrained enthusiasm:

"We applaud an invention which can well promise happiness to more than one extant wallflower. Who knows how many young girls, to whom the door of romance has hiterto remained bolted, may yet discover that their air is their crowning glory."

The young editor foresaw certain hazards, however, in an invention still in its infancy. He cited "the possibility of an embarrassing bang or two in an overcrowded room where the thermostat is not in good condition" and the obvious fact that "a suit modeled around a pneumatic figure would not look its best if a D.B. fitting suddenly became single-breasted."

Third Contract Probe

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Investigations Commissioner James H. Shiels said today he had information of a third contract "involving improper construction methods and practices" by Victor Clemente, Queens sewer contractor. Shiels said he obtained the information from witnesses who had appeared before him. He declined to disclose the location or size of the third job. Investigation so far has centered around an $185,000 Laurelton, Queens, project, completed this year, and a Rockaways job completed in 1940.

Arrested on Father's Robbery, Assault Charge

Murray Weisbrot, 27, 1569 Prospect Place, Brooklyn, was arrested by Trooper Shannon of the Ellenville station and is being held in the Ulster county jail pending arrival of Brooklyn police officials. He will be taken back to Brooklyn to face a charge of assault and robbery alleged to have been committed in Brooklyn on July 24. Weisbrot was arrested at the Arrow Head Hotel in Ellenville on a teletype message from Brooklyn.

It is alleged that he assaulted and robbed his father of $1,900 worth of diamonds and $200 in cash. At the time of his arrest he did not have in his possession any of the alleged stolen property.

Eisenhower . . .

lashing out at the Democratic administration. He set the crowd to cheering by saying: "I have said and will say again and again that there is only one issue in this campaign. That issue is the mess in Washington."

And he touched off another outburst with "there is only one way to get rid of that mess—that is to get rid of the wasters, the bunglers, the incompetents and the boss politicians who have created it."

Then Eisenhower charged the administration "has bungled us perilously close to World War Three." He said, "we will dedicate ourselves to a program for peace aimed to prevent future Koreas and the honorable end of this Korean war."

But he emphasized that although there is "need to bring hope" to the world's enslaved people—it must be done only through peaceful means. He said firmly, "we shall never be truculent—but we shall never appease."

Rejects Isolationism

He rejected isolationism, and called for "mutually profitable" world trade relations, and "unwavering support of the United Nations"—the latter plea getting only weak applause.

The first move toward world peace, he insisted, was to put an administration in Washington "which we ourselves can trust.

"We will win this battle for peace only afer we have won the Battle of Washington," he added.

He called, secondly, for a government in which "there will be no curtain of evasion, of suppression, or of double talk between ourselves and the people."

Then he ticked off these other points in his plan for peace:

The establishment of "clear and positive" peace goals and an end to what he called the "patchwork, crazy quilt operations" in foreign affairs.

The winning of allies which "are necessary for the survival of our system" and a strong world trade program.

A program "to aid by every peaceful means, but only by peaceful means," the right to live in freedom.

Unwavering support of the United Nations.

Strengthening the economic might of America with the development of this nation's "vast reservoir of energy, creative imagination, and risk-taking courage."

Maintaining military strength—but always striving for world disarmament with "dependable assurance of good faith" on the part of other nations.

To Prevent War

Seeking ways to prevent war, with diplomacy in the hands of men who have a "dedication to the cause of America and peace."

Rooting out of government "those who would betray our system" and fighting against discrimination, poverty, "and every social ill that hampers and handicaps any of our people."

Eisenhower warned that in this "day of terrible new weapons," another war would be a loss "from which the world could not recover in a millenium."

He said "only the losing of a modern war could be more disastrous than winning it. The one—the only—way to win World War 3 is to prevent it."

Eisenhower declared America can lead the world to peace and that "it is a cause for every American."

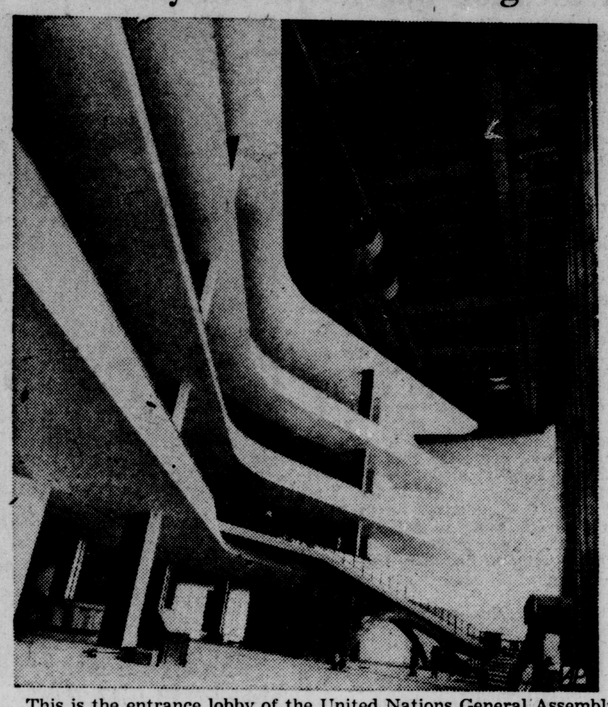
"Well, then, let's get going," he said. "Don't wait for tomorrow. Let's get going to night."

And the crowd howled approval.

Coleman Arrested

Detective Clarence Brophy and Officer Guernsey Burger, Jr., yesterday arrested at Freehold, N. J., Daniel Coleman, Jr., 20, of 26 Cedar street, on a charge of abandonment. Acting City Judge Harry Gold today adjourned the case until tomorrow morning when Coleman appeared before him.

Lobby of New UN Building



This is the entrance lobby of the United Nations General Assembly Hall in New York city as it appeared Sept. 3. The hall, third and latest unit of the UN headquarters to be built along the East river in the past four years, will be ready for the Oct. 14 meeting of the assembly. Curving balconies lead from entrances to the auditorium.

16 MIGs Destroyed

Pilots reported they demolished 35 buildings and damaged 33.

Other fighter-bombers blasted four supply dumps near Sibyon on the Haeju peninsula, on the west coast. In the same area, 12 B-26 bombers pounded stockpiles at Anak.

Enemy Increases

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, told a news conference Communist troop strength in Korea has increased slightly the past few months to more than a million.

Although UN air attacks are hurting the Reds, he said, "the enemy has rather ample stocks for an offensive." Van Fleet said, however, he does not expect one this fall.

The ground fighting, within sight and sound of neutral Panmunjom, flared into an infantry-artillery battle.

A UN staff officer said "these attacks were made by elements of two regiments, coordinated by a division . . . It shows they weren't planned by some glory-hunting battalion or regimental commander."

Still Want Bunker Hill

The renewed fighting on Bunker Hill was an ominous warning that the Reds still want the hill back.

U. S. Marines stormed the ridge the night of Aug. 11. They broke seven Chinese counterattacks to hold it the next five days—always under concentrated enemy artillery and mortar fire.

Although the area involved is small, the intensity of the assaults has been compared to the savage trench fighting of Flanders in World War 1. Some marine veterans of World War 2 said that man for man it matched the fury of Tarawa and Iwo Jima.

Fowler Is Chosen

Fowler which his staff made public, expressed apreciation at Fowler's decision and added that he was anxious to free Steelman of the mobilization work "in order that he may resume his full-time role as assistant to the President to work with me on other matters during the remaining months of this year."

Girl, 5, Has Polio

Another case of polio has been reported to the board of health, the twenty-fifth since the first of the year. The latest case reported is that of a five-year-old girl who is a resident of the county.

paralysis that a complete research program be undertaken at the Pehl farm.

Dr. Feller said the parents and three other Pehl children were being watched for any signs of illness. A tentative diagnosis showed no sign of polio.

Polio incidence in Texas was reported on the downgrade this week by the State Health Department which listed 160 new cases of the disease last week.

More than 3,000 persons have been stricken by the crippling malady in the state this year. Incidence in some cities has been at the epidemic stage.
